CHEST WORKERS PUSH FUND TOWARDS GOAL

Chest Workers Add Over $10,000 To Total Today

Fund Now Stands Near $34,000 Total—Drive Given Impetus

FINAL EFFORTS
NOW BEING MADE

Last Report Meeting Of Present Drive Set For Tuesday Night

The goal: $60,370.
Amount raised: $33,272.
Still needed: $27,098.
Days left: One.

After a busy week-end of solicitation, Community Chest campaigners rallied at noon today at the First Christian church to report a grand total of $33,272 of their goal of $60,370 subscribed. Today's report session, the third of the drive which opened last Tuesday night, brought in an additional $10,268.

The goal of the city-wide drive is $60,370 and eight of the city's welfare and character-building agencies are to benefit from it.

Last Day Tomorrow
One and a half days of last-ditch solicitation faced the hard-working teams when they left the First Christian church at the end of the report luncheon today. The drive is scheduled to close Tuesday night. Determined that the 1936 campaign shall not fail, and that New Castle's citizenry shall not disappoint its worthy Chest institutions, the Chest army moved into the field this afternoon confident the $60,370 will have been subscribed by the hour of the "victory dinner" in the First Christian church on Tuesday evening at 6:15.

Heartened By Reports
Today's brief report meeting heartened the campaign workers because they were outwardly satisfied over the week-end results. Their last report was on Friday noon and since then the various divisions, zones and districts have speeded up their prospect calls in order that the campaign close might come tomorrow night.

General Chairman David S. Pyle and other Community Chest leaders occupied the speakers' table once more today—and smiled with the rest over the figures written upon the huge drive "score board."

PA NEW OBSERVES

Apparently a lot of chicken raisers in Lawrence County, have adopted the idea of using electric lights in the chicken coops, as a means of stimulating egg production. A trip over the countryside at night reveals many a brilliantly lighted chicken coop.

Another paved street in the city has been opened to traffic. It is Garfield avenue between Wilmington and Mercer streets. The street was paved through co-operation of the city and the W. P. A. The section of Garfield avenue between Mercer street and Albert street is now being completed.

Pa New noted a newsboy who had taken up a location on a prominent North Mill corner, yesterday, who had built a bonfire in the street to get warm.

Pa New is informed from a number of sources that there is another locality that bears the name "New Castle" in addition to the list carried in an article in The News, several days ago. It is asserted that (Continued On Page Two)

SPANISH WAR SITUATION

(International News Service)
Spanish government charges that a fleet of foreign submarines attacked a Loyalist squadron at Cartagena again threatened grave international repercussions today.

Germany and Italy, inferentially linked with the incident, disclaimed ownership of the attacking craft, but Spain reiterated the charges through diplomatic channels in London.

Meanwhile, the British government moved to strengthen her naval forces off the Spanish coast and decided to tolerate no interference with British shipping as long as the rebels have not been recognized as belligerents.

In Madrid, a new aerial attack that caused considerable damage and some hostilities, hastened mass evacuation of the civilian population, now reported facing famine as well as death or injury from insurgent shells.

New York Unemployment Insurance Law Valid, Declares Supreme Court

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The supreme court, in a momentous decision today, held constitutional the New York state unemployment insurance law.

While the New York law stands apart from the far-flung federal social security program, an adverse decision might have destroyed the unemployment insurance provisions of the federal system.

The decision, holding that the state has the right under the federal constitution to levy a payroll tax up to three percent on employers to create an unemployment insurance system, affects 16 states with similar laws.

Iron Composure Of Gen. Denhardt Reported Broken

War Veteran's Counsel Seeks To Secure His Release On Bond

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23.—Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, former lieutenant governor and adjutant general of Kentucky, was reported near a break down in his county jail cell today as his battery of legal counsel strove to gain his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Charged with the murder of his fiancée, beautiful Vera Taylor 40-year-old widow, Gen. Denhardt was ordered held without bail pending action of the January grand jury at his preliminary arraignment last Friday.

Yesterday the iron composure of the veteran of three wars broke over the week-end results. He recounted his romance with the beautiful widow and the events leading up to her death the night of Nov. 6, when her body, a bullet through the heart, was found in a ditch, 600 yards up a road from Gen. Denhardt's parked automobile. Near her hand was his service revolver.

Tears streamed down the cheeks of the 60-year-old military leader as he retold his story, bringing out hitherto undisclosed facts. Mrs. Taylor, he said, had attempted to commit suicide as they were driving in the Henry County hills, a few hours prior to death.

Plan For Ceremonies As President's Cruiser Crosses The Equator

By GEORGE DURNO

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD U. S. S. CHESTER, At Sea, Nov. 23.—Four hundred miles off the mouth of the Amazon, still more than 2,000 miles from Rio De Janeiro, the cruiser Indianapolis prepared today to receive "Davy Jones."

Accused of "gross incompetency in failing to carry Maine and Vermont," President Roosevelt as "Senior Pollywog" was ordered to post a watch for his arrival for tomorrow's ceremony of crossing the Equator.

Plans for the fun fest were set under way with the receipt aboard the Chester and Indianapolis, enroute to the Pan-American peace conference at Buenos Aires, of the following message:

Georgia Hunts Woman's Slayer

Young Woman Is Found Beaten To Death Along Road In Georgia

WAILING CHILD FOUND NEAR BODY

(International News Service)

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Nov. 23.—An aroused countryside today sought the slayer of a pretty unidentified girl whose body, gruesomely beaten almost beyond recognition, was discovered in a clump of bushes on a lonely road near here yesterday, a wailing 20-months-old boy beside it.

Sheriff A. J. Cutledge said she had been struck over the head 11 times with a blunt instrument, probably a tire tool. The child, apparently her son, had not been harmed, he said.

The body was discovered by a Negro who heard the plaintive whimpering of the child as he returned from church. Cutledge asserted the girl had been dragged from the road (Continued On Page Two)

Youngster Killed By Hit-Run Driver

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 23.—Eleven-year-old James Austin Harbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harbaugh of near East Ohio, was killed today by a hit-run driver who carried his body a quarter of a mile and left it in a lane on the Levi Tissue farm, according to police.

The broken body was found by Miss Madeline Tissue, a school teacher. The body suffered a broken neck and internal injuries.

So terrific was the impact he was hurled out of his shoes and police believe the shoes might offer an important clue to the driver if they can be found. The lane where the body was found was about a quarter of a mile from the Connelville-Farmington road.

"Vague rumors have reached our ears through our subterranean emissaries that the Indianapolis will enter the realm of Neptune Rex on November 24.

"His royal highness's ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, Davy Jones, will board your vessel during the evening of November 23, with Peg-Leg and his staff, and deliver the message of Neptune Rex to the trusty shell-banks on board.

"Subpoenas will be presented at the same time. You will stop your ship and render proper honors."

The royal police have been busy painting the "Pollywogs" with a red dye so that the uninitiated may be recognized. Anybody trying to dodge the crimson smear was put into stocks.

Accusations Aimed At Both Germany And Italy By Madrid Government

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

MADRID, Nov. 23.—Surging across the Manzanares river west of the city, Loyalist troops today successfully staged a surprise counter-attack on rebel emplacements in the Casa de Campo sector.

Following a series of minor advances which reduced the rebels' foothold in the northwestern portion of the capital proper, the government announced that "four operations are maintaining a favorable course."

Madrid Confident

Madrid, a communique said, "faces the day with confidence, as the result of success in several sectors." In the first air raid over the capital in three days, a single rebel plane swooped down at 6 A.M., dropping seven big bombs.

One dropped into the courtyard of the war ministry, another dug a pit in Barquillo street, and a third killed a boy in Bilbao Square. The others fell in the northern quarter of the city.

The sortie into the Casa de Campo resulted in the burning of rebel buildings at Casa Quemada. Loyalists also recaptured Casa Velazquez, the French students' center in University City, although it had been nearly burned to the ground.

Coincident with its claims of victory on the war front, the Madrid (Continued On Page Two)

Governor Earle Slightly Hurt

Injured When Plane Hits "Air Pocket" And Takes Drop

FORCED TO RETURN TO STATE CAPITAL

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Gov. George E. Earle was slightly injured yesterday when his plane struck an "air pocket" and took a sudden drop of about 150 feet while flying over the treacherous central Pennsylvania mountains, he disclosed on his arrival here today.

The executive and his pilot, Richard Herbine, were enroute to Pittsburgh when they encountered a snowstorm near Altoona and turned back. Shortly afterward the plane took its drop.

So rapid was the plunge that the governor's head struck the ceiling of the plane. He was "groggy" for a moment, he said. His head was bruised.

The plane returned to Harrisburg and the governor then enroute for Pittsburgh for an inspection of state institutions in this section. Asked how he felt, he replied:

"Well, I feel like my height had been reduced from five feet nine to five feet seven."

The stockily built executive said he would consult a physician later today. He was to visit the Western state penitentiary, the Pennsylvania training school at Morgantown, California state teachers college and the Connelville state hospital.

De Schweinitz Is Appointed

State Relief Director Is Named In Charge Of Social Security

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—Karl De Schweinitz, state relief director, today was appointed by Gov. George H. Earle as deputy secretary of welfare in charge of social security activities of that department.

His salary will be $10,000 a year, an increase of $2,000 over his present salary, to be paid jointly by the state emergency relief board and the welfare department.

Employees Will Receive Social Security Forms

Will Be Delivered By New Castle Letter Carriers Tuesday

EVERY WORKER TO RECEIVE BLANK

New Castle's letter carriers on Tuesday morning will deliver thousands of the federal government's social security "employee forms" to all stores, offices, plants and other working places throughout the district.

At the post office today the forms have been stacked in batches and are ready for delivery on scheduled time.

Tomorrow's mail load is the second of the social security board has furnished for mail carriers, the first having been the "employers' forms" sent out more than a week ago.

The first were for employers alone to sign while the second which will go out Tuesday are for the employees.

Sixteen Questions
Every worker will receive the SS-5 blank which constitutes his application for an account number under the new social security act. Sixteen questions are asked.

Postmaster Richard A. Steen said his staff today had organized the distribution task in a way that will insure its speedy consumption. All (Continued On Page Two)

Near Showdown In Death Probe

Expect Final Questioning In Reid Russell Case At Los Angeles

VEERING BACK TO SUICIDE THEORY

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—The weird Reid Russell death mystery was at the showdown stage today with its internationally famous principals gathering for a final questioning while authorities awaited reports from laboratories checking blood stains, bullet holes and a rusty-barreled .32 calibre pistol.

And while the inevitable climax was in prospect, investigations were reported veering back to the original theory, that the 28 year old automobile salesman blew out his brains because he was in desperate financial straits.

Gouverneur Morris, famous novelist, told authorities that Russell threatened to "end it all" while visiting them some days before his body was found in a garden swing, an automatic pistol clutched in his right hand.

Morris' attractive wife, Ruth, corroborated that statement and so did beautiful Lila Lee, the film actress and her 12 year old son, Jimmy Kirkwood, guests at the Morris home last September 25 when the body was found. All were to be questioned today.

Revelation that Russell had extremely pressing financial obligations features the investigation during the week end as several promising "leads" pointing toward the murder theory, blew up.

One of them was the discovery that a Manhattan man, reported missing, is working at a New Jersey dairy.

Britain Decides To Increase Naval Forces Off Coast Of Spain

By KINGSBURY SMITH

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Britain decided today to strengthen her naval forces off the Spanish coast to protect British merchant shipping.

As leading members of the cabinet met in their second emergency session in two days, the admiralty made plans to reinforce British warships already off Spain, and fighting craft in the Mediterranean was ordered to stand by with full steam up to speed for Spain on a moment's notice.

Foreign Minister Anthony Eden was instructed by the cabinet, it was understood, to inform the House of Commons this afternoon that Britain will under no circumstances tolerate Spanish interference with England's shipping so long as the rebels have not been recognized as belligerents.

BUTLER COUNTY

MAN IS KILLED

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 23.—C. D. Markel, 22, of East Brady, R. D. 1, was electrocuted early today when his head came in contact with a trolley wire while pulling an empty car into a room in the Oneida Fuel Company mine near here. The wire carried 250 volts DC current. Efforts to revive him failed.

TRAFFIC TOLL REACHES 31

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 23.—Erie's 1936 traffic toll hit a new high of 31 today with the death of Charles J. Baker, 53, struck by a car driven by Paul Schoettles, also of Erie, according to police. He leaves his widow, three sons and one daughter.

There was no mention of King Edward's marriage plans during the luncheon. The three talked of general topics and once again found a common interest in flowers—Queen Mary's greatest hobby.

In this connection, it was learned that King Edward's daily gift of flowers to Mrs. Simpson comes not from a west end florist, as frequently reported, but from the nursery of Windsor Castle.

England To Stay Neutral

Will Prevent British Ships Carrying Arms To Spain

By KINGSBURY SMITH

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Determined to preserve its own neutrality regardless of foreign participation in the Spanish civil war, Great Britain today moved to prevent British vessels from carrying arms for either side in Spain.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons the government intends to seek immediate legislation to prohibit such shipments.

Such legislation would have the effect of making Britain's embargo on arms shipments to Spain airtight, as any export of British arms or ammunition is already forbidden.

MAN BURNED TO

Death In Garage

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23.—Bud Martin, 25, was burned to death and four other men escaped early today when fire damaged a garage in which the men were sleeping. Firemen said the blaze started from an overheated stove.

Fear Many Persons Are Buried Alive In Catastrophe In Far North

RESCUE WORK IS BEING SPEEDED

Main Thoroughfare Of Juneau Is Buried Under Rock And Debris

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 23.—Dozens of persons were believed buried alive in the wreckage of three apartment houses and other buildings today when an avalanche roared down from Mt. Roberts, burying front street, Juneau's main thoroughfare, under 100 feet of rock and other debris.

Hundreds of citizens, awakened by the catastrophe, were digging frantically in the mud and rock for the victims, including many children, who were given little chance of survival.

All power service was disrupted, breaking off communications with the outside, and forcing rescuers to dig by the flickering lights of lanterns and flashlights.

The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa and U. S. army boats in the harbor focused spotlights on the scene shortly after they learned of the disaster.

May Be 25 to 30 Dead.

Conservative estimates of the number entombed ranged from 25 to 30.

All available doctors were at the scene, ready with their emergency kits to treat the victims.

Crews of miners were working in the mountainous piles of debris which blocked the various buildings.

With a roar that could be heard for miles the avalanche, fully 100 feet wide, swept down the mountain (Continued On Page Ten)

NEW SPOTLIGHT ON CRIME

A SIDE-LINE operation of the Social Security act is now being hailed as a new weapon against crooks, because the law requires firms and individuals to list all business employees with their salaries.

Uncle Sam found the income tax law effective during the prohibition era in reaching criminals who could not be molested in other ways because of limited evidence. It is pointed out that the new law will have a similar effectiveness, and if this idea works as hoped, a new attribute may be credited to this legislation.

The government, in this matter as in income tax enforcement, leaves the burden of proof to the individual, and while it presumes him to be guilty until he shows himself innocent, may uncover sculduggery in racketeering, bootlegging, extortion, smuggling and other nefarious business enterprises still extant.

Having to convince a jury that certain gangster hangers-on are legitimate employees, with the nature of their duties and their salaries put on record, conceivably may help break up crime rings now operating under impressive letterheads.

WHAT, NO WHISKERS?

Clark Gable, a personable chap in many ways, is being tossed on both horns of a dilemma. He is being torn between the demands of historical authenticity and the appeal of his public.

His director says that Mr. Gable should wear a beard when he portrays the role of Charles Stewart Parnell in a picture built around the life of the Irish statesman. Mr. Gable insists that not under any circumstances will he wear a beard, though Parnell wore a dozen of them and the stars fell from the heavens, the reason being that his public, almost entirely feminine, does not like whiskers on heroes.

The reason, we believe, is sound. After all, historical accuracy has never been a fetish in Hollywood, and if such diverse personages as Alexander Hamilton, Disraeli, Voltaire, the Duke of Wellington, Rothschild and the Rajah of Rook can all be turned out in the mold of George Arliss, why is it not permissible to fashion a Parnell after the pattern of Clark Gable?

SELF-RELIANT FARMERS

Pending definite announcement of the administration's future farm relief program many interesting recommendations are being made by agricultural organizations. The National Grange, at its seventieth annual convention, took a striking stand against governmental subsidies or special privileges for farmers as a permanent policy. In its opinion such discriminatory benefits should be confined to emergencies.

This declaration runs counter to demands recently made by groups of farmers' representatives who conferred with Secretary Wallace. There is no doubt that a considerable body of opinion favors revival of the old AAA if a way can be found to get around the Supreme Court's decision. Others desire an extension of the present AAA substitute. The National Grange represents the more conservative element, although it has been active for many years in helping to obtain legislation beneficial to the farmers.

So there is point to the declaration by the Grange that "for a long time, permanent program we are convinced that agriculture, as well as industry, must stand on its own feet." Possibly the day will come when the old saying that "the farmer is the most independent being on earth" will again be heard in the land.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

MONEY FOR CHRISTMAS

Christmas is occupying prosperity's old hiding place right now, but every day there are increasing evidences that it is coming nearer and nearer, and will be right here to find many unprepared as usual. But the latest reminder of the approach of the festival is the annual announcement of the funds to be distributed by Christmas clubs. The 7,500,000 members of these clubs will receive in the next few weeks about $355,000,000, which ought to put them in a state of preparedness.

About 5,500 banks participate in this method of saving. They report an annual increase of fourteen per cent in funds on hand as compared with last year. In Pennsylvania will occur the second largest distribution—about $36,200,000. New York leads with $95,500,000, while New Jersey has $31,500,000, Massachusetts $26,500,000, Illinois $21,000,000 and Ohio $19,600,000. The average disbursement will be $46.50 per person.

A survey as to the uses made of Christmas savings produced an interesting result. The money will be used about as follows:

	Per Cent
Christmas buying	42	$149,000,000
Permanent savings	25	89,000,000
Year-end Commitments	8	28,400,000
Taxes	12	42,600,000
Mortgage interest	6	21,300,000
Insurance premiums	5	17,700,000
Education, travel, charity	2	7,000,000
		$355,000,000

This convenient method of accumulating money for specific purposes has proved of great benefit to a number that is increasing every year and leads to permanent habits of thrift.

It isn't true that people won't trust a man unless they know what he stands for. Look at Borah.

How times change. In the old days the crank was given the air. Now the radio people won't let him use it.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, now over forty, is about to take her fifth husband. And life, they say, begins at forty.

The chief cause of our national ills is man's inability to see evil in anything that is paying him a profit.

Things even up. If parents are ashamed of their children, the children are usually ashamed of their parents.

Certain gentlemen in Europe are even now getting ready to deny any and all responsibility for the war which they are busily preparing.

Sociologist says woman is only 97 per cent emancipated. But that would seem to comprise considerably more freedom than is possessed by the average man.

To General Franco, Sir.
Hens To Work 12 Hours.
Struggle For Mr. Farley.
A Touch Of Communism.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE INTERESTING and amusing news for this country is the warning sent by Gen. Franco for the Spanish insurgents. Your Uncle Sam is warned to keep his ships away from Barcelona, under pain, probably of having them sunk by Gen. Franco. What President Roosevelt thinks about this you may learn from the warship carrying him to the other side of the equator.

You can imagine what another Democratic President, Grover Cleveland, would probably say, remembering the message he sent to England about Venezuela.

CLEVELAND might have told Franco:

"First, young man, you have no government, or if you think you have, we have not recognized it, so, for us, it does not exist."

"The United States sees in you a Spaniard who has taken into his own country a horde of dark skinned Moors from Northern Africa to murder his own fellow countrymen."

"Also before you talk any nonsense about warning American ships away from Barcelona, read about the last time Spain acted foolishly toward the United States. Admiral Dewey is dead, but we have other admirals."

GOOD NEWS for chicken farmers, bad news for hens. Prof. Card, of Michigan's State college poultry husbandry department, recommends a simple attachment to switch on the electric light in the hen coop and start an alarm clock at the same time long before sunrise.

This would make the hens eat more feed, lay more and better eggs, says the professor. It would put hens on a 12-hour working basis. The professor says "Grade A and fancy eggs running 24 ounces or more to the dozen are worth 35 to 40 cents at the farm."

LITTLE VISIT

MY FRIEND comes in and sits down in that big chair, right over there. . . . He stretches his legs out in front of him, throws his hat on the table, gets out a cigarette, lights it, and talks.

It's fine to have him do that. It's good to see him. If I'm busy I tell him to beat it. It's no use telling him to stay and keep quiet while I work. He'd agree to sit and read, but he couldn't do it. He's not that kind. He's too full of excitement, interest. I've tried it and it doesn't work. . . . So I tell him I'm busy and he picks up his things and goes.

But if I'm not so busy, I lean back in my chair, too, and we talk about things. We "chew the fat". The fat of our lives. Not forgetting the lean. . . . I say things to him I wouldn't be saying to others. I think he does, too. We talk about books, people, politics, ideas, anything. It's easy to do. . . . We don't have any dull spots when we're wondering what we can possibly say next. If we haven't anything to say it doesn't matter.

He's not a bubbling, cheerful fellow. Sometimes he's angry, discouraged, tired. Sometimes he has a grouch. But it doesn't make any difference about his mood at the moment. He comes in, sits down, smokes, visits—and that's enough.

There's vigor in him, and interest, and excitement. He's alive. It's a funny thing, but not everybody is alive, not all the time anyway like my friend. Not for you, anyway. They may be alive for others, for THEIR friends, but they don't click for you, you don't click for them. You like them well enough but the two of you never get close. You might in some sharp emergency but you don't in the easy give and take of living.

But my friend who has just left me is alive for me all the time. When I'm with him, when I haven't seen him for days. . . . I'm glad he came in.

NEW YORK—Henry E. Bruckman, chairman of the New York state liquor authority, decides to discourage the use of pictures of Santa Claus in liquor advertisements: "It might unduly interest youth in drinking hard liquor."

NONE FOR HIM

After spending a few hours with the boys, a local roustabout decided he would telephone his wife.

"Hello Honee," he said sweetly. "What have we got for dinner tonight?"

"So," snorted the Missus, "drunk again, eh?"

"No, no, Honee. Not one drink. All I want to know is what's for dinner?"

"Apple sauce," exploded the disgruntled wife.

"Well," blubbered the drunk. "Better make it for just one—don't like apple sauce."

WHEN you attend any outdoor Winter sports function where you will be seated in a grandstand amid thousands of other spectators, wear a small, close-fitting hat with no gadgets protruding upward or sideways in such manner as to impair the view of those behind you.

Men like women who dress for the occasion. If you would "make a hit" don't wear for this purpose your ultra ultra hat with that huge doo-dad going heavenward. Your little sports model with the small brim might save the day for you. And wear warm clothes so that you won't spoil your companions' fun just because you are chilled to the bone and must be taken to cover before the game is over.

Dear Miss Markel—I have recently been divorced and have taken back my maiden name. My wedding ring is very attractive and I would like to know if it would be proper to wear it on my right hand.

M. L. A.
Answer—I know of no reason why, under the circumstances, you should not wear your wedding ring on your right hand. It is frequently so worn after divorce, but it would be improper for you to continue to wear on the ring finger of your left hand a wedding ring given by a divorced husband.

How Government Aided Railroad.
B. And O. Head Tells Of Situation.
Corporations Are Inflating.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

THERE ARE TWO PARAGRAPHS in the annual report of President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company that few, if any, financial writers quoted. The second of the two paragraphs is an unusual one to be written by the president of a large corporation. See for yourself. Here are the paragraphs:

"During the years from 1932 to 1936, inclusive, the Baltimore & Ohio failed to earn its full interest, fixed charges, and depreciation by $11,136,000. . . . During this same period the company secured loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Public Works Administration which after certain payments on account of approximately $12,900,000, now aggregate $73,799,823, all, in effect, for refunding purposes. After deducting $13,490,000 Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company five-year secured notes held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as part of the indebtedness referred to, it leaves direct obligations to governmental agencies of $60,309,823, with maturities extending over the period to Aug. 1, 1939.

"At a time when because of financial conditions incident to the depression it was practically impossible to market new securities, the aid and consideration extended by these agencies of the government were of inestimable value to this and many other companies having important obligations maturing. Having in mind the exceptional business and financial conditions during these last several years, it is not difficult to visualize what might have happened in the railroad and business world but for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the intelligent and helpful manner in which its activities have been directed."

WONDERFUL STRIDES President Willard's report brings out, too, the wonderful strides being made in the development of new railroad motive power. For the B. & O. has ordered two 3,600-horsepower Diesel locomotives for use, without change, between Washington and Chicago. That is "as nothing" to the Diesels that now operate between Chicago and Los Angeles without change.

Yet it was merely three years ago that the B. & O. put into service an experimental Diesel between Washington and New York. It was of 1,800-horsepower.

Then Union Pacific and Burlington began developing larger horsepower—notably Union Pacific. And Santa Fe joined the procession.

But not all roads favor Diesels. Orders for steam locomotives still exceed Diesels by many times—when there are orders. Steam locomotives, too, have been tremendously improved. The New York Central and the Milwaukee are sticking to steam in new orders, which is worth noting, for the Central probably has the largest number of fast trains in the world.

STOCK INFLATION Speaking of inflation—business corporations themselves are doing a great deal of it.

When corporations call in bonds and other liens and give stock in exchange, they not only are adding to the supply of stock, but they are reducing the equity in the business of each share of stock outstanding.

It is true that corporations are reducing their interest bearing debt. But, sometimes, an interest bearing debt is a heavy reminder that there is an obligation. Paying out money in dividends to save interest and taxes, may prove to be a dissipation costly to the stockholders in the end.

The constant flow of new stock into the market also is adding to the burden of the spiral—as it did in 1929.

This plus credit buying by millions of all sorts of articles, plus an unbalanced national budget, plus a vastly expanded credit base, is causing some of the conservative gray beards to head for their shelter-proof vaults. Conservative bonds are in tremendous demand.

WINTER'S APPROACH
Winter's coming on and I
See the gray and somber sky
And the dead sprigs stark and cold
Which one time were marigold.

What were peonies in May
Are but ugly stalks today,
And where roses used to be
All is pitiful to see.

Where the violets I found
Bleak and barren is the ground.
All the eye discovers here
Is the wreckage of the year.

What one time were lilies frail
Now are playthings for the gale;
Bowled along until they fall
Broken at the garden wall.

Still one hope remains to me
Dead though beauty seems to be:
'Tis not death I gaze upon,
Merely winter coming on.

Today's Yesterdays, Nov. 23, 1816—Richard Hakluyt died at 64. Hakluyt's works inflamed men to seek fame, sent many a man to the New World. His alluring Divers Voyages Touching the Discovery of America and Discourse Concerning Western Discoveries, the first noteworthy histories of America, had the same effect upon the men of England as the news of the discovery of gold in California upon the men of New England, and it was written, that to him, "England is more indebted for its American possession than to any man of that age."

Yet Hakluyt himself never saw America! . . . Nov. 23, 1744—Weymouth, Mass., was the birthplace of Abigail Smith. She wed John Adams at 19, became the first wife of a President to be the mother of a President. She never went to school, and was forced to educate herself, yet throughout her adult lifetime she was regarded as one of the foremost women intellectuals in the world.

Nov. 23, 1859—William H. Bonney was born. As "Billy the Kid" he acquired an enduring reputation as the most famous outlaw in the Southwest, and he is regarded today as the personification of the western quick-trigger. Yet he was born in New York City and lived less than five years in the west.

Nov. 23, 1860—The standard of musical pitch, settled in France the year before, was recognized by the Society of Arts, London, whence recognition of the standard spread to the United States and around the world.

Middle A was fixed at 870.9 simple or 435.45 double vibrations a second at a temperature of 50 deg. F. (Temperature is important in pitch, for, realize, because the pitch of wind instruments and particu-

THE AMERICAN

Columbus is said to have discovered the Western Hemisphere, although the Norsemen, are reported to have been in the neighborhood of Martha's Vineyard several centuries before Columbus. The French explorers penetrated Canada and came down to what is now known as the United States and voyaged to the mouth of the Mississippi. The Spaniards brought the first horses to America, and the first cows to the Americas.

Prior to the Declaration of independence, many European nationals wandered in and out of North America, but as far as the colonization of the United States was concerned, this was done by Englishmen, with a few Dutch in New Amsterdam. The great bulk of the new nation formed by the Thirteen Colonies and known as the United States of America, were English born, or the sons and daughters of English born. The doors to the immigrants were then thrown wide open, and whether for good or bad, the "citizens of this nation are a conglomerate lot,—Slav and Latin, Goths and Vandals, Norwegian and English, and say what we please about the people of other

My New York

By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The battle of the Hamlets grows fiercer. Two Englishmen, one comparative-ly unknown until now in this country and the other a golden-crowned Grade A matinee idol, are the protagonists.

John Gielgud put on his version of the mad and homicidal Dane and shortly thereafter Leslie Howard came along with a competitive treatment up the street. The opening of the Howard "Hamlet" and the resulting critical reactions have had the odd and embarrassing effect of increasing the number of standees at the Gielgud opus.

The consensus seems to be that Mr. Howard would look a great deal better as "Hamlet" if Mr. Gielgud were not around as contrast. The longer Mr. Howard appears in "Hamlet" the better he looks as a competent and winning Broadway heart-throbber and Hollywood hero; and the slicker Mr. Gielgud seems as a Shakespearean mime.

Of course, there are a great many people who would go to see Leslie Howard stand on his head in the center of the stage for three acts. During the first week of his "Hamlet" the line of autograph fiends at the stage door was often longer than the line at the box-office and that sort of draw is bound to bring them in sooner or later.

But I hope his experience, even though he manages to make money out of Shakespeare, will be pointed enough to discourage him and other pleasantly polished actors from rushing for the Complete Works of the Bard as soon as a little success and popular acclaim has come. We need Mr. Howard's benevolent presence in the talking pictures, where he can even divert himself in a "Romeo and Juliet" on occasions when the Shakespearean itch becomes too great to be borne.

But this "Hamlet complex" which apparently plagues generation after generation of actors the moment they enter that demoralizing half-world between the Ham and the Genius, could stand a lot of healthy discouragement. "Hamlet" will remain as one of two or three great poems in the language. But I think

I could marshal a good many rabid Shakespearean scholars and cultists to my side when I say that it grows more and more detached from the drama and more and more a reader's play with the years. It is beautiful, to this reporter at any rate, in the same way that "Ecclesiastes" is beautiful, for its dizzily lovely and sonorous poetry.

And once every few years there will be a Gielgud on hand to act "Hamlet" and keep it green for the masses. It is doubtful that Broadway is big enough for two "Hamlets," however, running simultaneously, and certainly not big enough when one of them is a Gielgud and the other a Howard.

A year or so ago I interviewed Mr. Howard backstage during the run of "The Petrified Forest." He was superb in this play. I hope nothing in the foregoing conveys the impression that I am not a fan of long stand. His performance in "Berkeley Square" afforded me one of the pleasantest theatrical evenings of my life.

But even as I talked to him, many months ago, I gathered that he felt "The Petrified Forest" and even "Berkeley Square" were not tony and literary enough. He confessed that the dream of his life was to do "Hamlet" and the thought depressed me monstrously. For I knew he was heading for grief.

And although it would not harm him to be scared away from Shakespeare by his recent attempt, I don't think he ought to be at all discouraged by the unhappy comparisons to Gielgud. I saw Mr. Gielgud in a modern movie, in which he impersonated a grim, whimsical English secret agent, and the result was pretty terrible. Any time Howard wants to be reassured of his great talents, he should have that film run off in his private projection booth. And he should follow it by a look at himself in the debonair and moving "Scarlet Pimpernel."

Lehn Is Renamed To Direct Music Meet

The extension division of the University of Pittsburgh announced the reelection of H. M. B. Through the auspices of the league, many of the high schools of Northwestern Pennsylvania have achieved prominence in county, district, and state contests.

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FRAIL BABY BIG GIRL

A mother writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I want to send a few words to the mother you tell of with the two-and-one-half-year-old girl, weight 28 pounds, height 36 inches. Mine weighed 21½ pounds and was 34 inches at the same age. She is now eight, weighs 45 pounds and is 48 inches tall, very tiny boned. She has never had an ounce of fat on her in her life. She was a perfect baby, never ill, not even a cold, until four. Every one despaired of her life, she took so little food. She was put on the bottle with the hope of strengthening the small amount she would take at one feeding. But she never finished one, nor to this day eats more than half that other children do. She was taken to a clinic every week the first year. She has had cod liver oil nine months out of every year, lives in a sun suit, has an hour rest at noon, and has always sleeps 12 hours at night, perfect sleep."

"She is an active, happy child. Now too bad I worried so much over her, that I could hardly enjoy her babyhood. I felt I must be to blame, but now I do not think so, and I want to say this to you, dear mother, give your child a table and dishes all alone in her own room. Do not permit anyone to say a word to her about food. Present the most important food for each meal FIRST. If she has not eaten it in half an hour, remove her plate, tell her it is time for something else. Do not be cross; act as though you did not care."

All You Can Do.

"If you do this, after first knowing from your doctor that she is all right, it is all you can do. Remember, you cannot make her eat; you can give her the right food in the right way. Do not relent by giving her a cracker or glass of milk before the next meal, and see that no one else does. If she keeps well, no matter how thin, and has enough sleep, do not worry; perhaps she has a small stomach. Nature will have to take the food her body needs."

I have printed this letter because I believe it will set at ease a good many mothers who are worrying needlessly. It seems to me the most significant statement is, "perhaps she has a small stomach." Diet lists and advice by most baby specialists to mothers of infants seem to assume that the stomachs of all babies of a given age are exactly of the same size. I wish I might be able to persuade the pediatrician to quit urging the mother to try to stuff into the child more food than he wants, which, in many instances, means more food than his stomach can comfortably hold. Rightly we aim at some of all essential foods; but very wrongly, as a rule, do we fret about the total amount of food the child will take.

Like many women she looked much older than she really was. Her body sagged so that her once erect, youthful carriage was gone. Her face was lined. She suffered cramps in the legs, severe backaches, frequent headaches. Then her doctor told her to change to Health Spot Shoes because these shoes are scientifically built to balance the feet and body properly. They straighten up weak feet and hold them in correct position. . . . She's happy now. Like thousands of men and women, she knows now what foot health means. Health Spot Shoes are to foot transportation what the latest streamlined train and newest plane are to rail or air travel. They are a modern scientific triumph. . . . Why not come in today and learn their secret? There is no obligation, of course. Walk in Health with Happy Feet.

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—With public demand for settlement of the maritime walkout swelling to a new high point as the strike tightened its grip on water-borne commerce, activity of federal mediators was divided between striving for peace and providing emergency relief for strikebound Alaska and Hawaii.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady conferred yesterday with Secretary Perkins by telephone yesterday, and announced today he was again attempting to reopen negotiations between operators of coastwise steam schooners and the striking unions.

He was to confer today with representatives of the steamship association of the Pacific.

When the strike of 37,000 Pacific coast maritime workers was called, the coastwise operators were on the verge of an agreement with the unions.

McGrady envisioned the possibility of partial settlement, with the strikers returning to work for the coast shippers, and continuing on strike against the deep-sea operators.

The advent of the Christmas shopping season resulted in increased pressure by merchants and industrial heads for quick settlement of the strike, which has paralyzed maritime commerce in the Pacific.

The November meeting of the Energy W. C. T. U. took place at the home of Mrs. Walter Nagel. The topic was "Sabbath Observance and Bible in the Public Schools". Mrs. Laura Shaffer was the leader.

The meeting was opened by singing "America", followed by the consecration hymn, and devotions. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Nagel.

A discussion followed, the subject, "Do Not Existing Conditions Merit Our Being More Staunch in Observing the Lord's Day?" The following leaflets were then read: "A Spiritual Necessity", Mrs. S. W. Guy; "The Sabbath Authenticates Itself As From God", Mrs. William Leslie; "The Sabbath and Science", Mrs. Taylor; poem written by prisoner in honor of Mrs. Jennie Forquer, read by Mrs. Maud Ralston.

The crusade hymn was sung and after a short business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Weir, the meeting was closed by prayer.

JUNIOR B. P. W. PLANS INTERESTING TOUR

On Tuesday evening, November 24, the Junior Business and Professional Women's club will meet at their usual downtown tea room, for a 6 o'clock dinner. Afterwards, they will be conducted through the local Bell Telephone company on a special tour.

This meeting will be one of the most interesting undertaken this season by the Junior B. P. W. and reservations are coming in steadily, indicating a large attendance. Miss Sylvia Lee Martin is president of the organization.

Will Play For Club

Miss Camilla Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Smith, of Croton avenue, now a piano pupil of Ewart Reagan, at the Fillion Studios in Pittsburgh, will play Tuesday evening at the New Castle Music club of which he is a member.

Two years ago Miss Smith was presented by Albert A. Taylor, her former teacher, in a debut recital at the Highland U. P. church, New Castle. She is to be presented in a second recital marking her Pittsburgh debut sometime in the early spring months.

Kuppel Kard Klub

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest King received the Kuppel Kard Klub members at their residence on Thorpe street on Saturday evening. They played cards and the prizes were won by Mrs. Weidon Zeigler and Amos Zeigler.

A nicely prepared Thanksgiving lunch was served by Mrs. King.

In two weeks Mr. and Mrs. Weidon Zeigler, Rose avenue, will entertain the club.

DAUGHTERS 1812 HEAR SPEAKER

Daughters of 1812 gathered Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Carrie Alley on Knox avenue to hear a very good speaker.

He was S. J. Warwick of Youngstown, who spoke about the changes the U. S. constitution is undergoing.

After the talk, there was a social period with refreshments served by the hostess and Mrs. T. M. Pattison. The president, Mrs. M. B. Dinsmore, was in charge of the meeting.

Bride-Elect Honored

Honoring Elnora Henderson, who is to become the bride of Lloyd Green on November 25, her sister Helen was hostess at a surprise shower in her home, 914 Marshall avenue.

Games, music and bingo were the chief diversions, and the guest of honor received many beautiful and useful gifts. A very delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother. Prizes were won by Elizabeth Humble, Celia Strobel, Katherine Shaffer, Mrs. Margaret Barber and Ruth Lane.

M. N. O. Club

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, the M. N. O. club members will meet Friday evening instead of Thursday, for their regular social function in the home of Mrs. Madina Collins, Harlansburg road.

M. and N. C. Club

Mrs. Harry Gilmore of North Cedar street provided a very enjoyable Thursday afternoon for members of the M. and N. C. club last week.

Three tables of bridge were in play. The prizes for high scores were awarded to Mrs. Mary Cox and Mrs. Mary Matthews. A luncheon was served by the hostess after the games.

In two weeks Mrs. Matthews will entertain at her home on West Clay-ton street.

Attend Wedding

Attorney and Mrs. William J. Caldwell of the Wilmington road were at Pittsburgh Saturday attending the wedding of Mrs. Caldwell's brother, Joseph Allen MacEwen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. MacEwen of Mt. Lebanon, to Marion Gaylord, daughter of Mrs. T. P. Gaylord of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed in the Highland Presbyterian church, followed by a reception at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. MacEwen will reside in Cleveland, O. where Mr. MacEwen holds a responsible position with a large manufacturing firm.

Gillespie Class

Miss Gillespie's class of the First M. E. church has the regular monthly business session on the evening of November 20 in the home of Marilyn Boyd on Wilmington avenue.

A very pleasing evening was spent. The hostess, assisted by her mother, served a delicious lunch. The next meeting will be held in the home of Edith Cavill on December 11, the meeting day being changed from the third Friday in the month, to the second.

Stitch And Chatter Club

Miss Kathryn Panella received the Stitch and Chatter members in her home Wednesday evening. Sewing, chat and music were the chief pastimes. Mrs. Pearl Marcella, of Erie, and Mrs. Olive Rispoli were special guests.

At the proper time a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, Miss Mary Cipriano, of 412 Bleakley avenue, will receive the members on Wednesday, December 2.

Tuesday Bridge Club

The Tuesday Bridge club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Ed. Chapman, Moody avenue.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP NO. 8

The regular meeting of the Swan troop took place Tuesday evening in the basement of the First U. P. church. Patrol corners were called and business discussed. The remainder of the evening was passed in planning for a color carnival, the date for which has been changed from December 1 to December 8. A short court of honor followed the meeting. It was announced that a special visitor will be present at the next meeting.

Scribe, Helen Williams.

JUANITA TROOP

Troop 14 had a weekly meeting in St. Mary's auditorium on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. The meeting opened with "colors" followed by songs, patrol corners were then formed and the attendance was checked and dues collected.

The tenderfoot class taught many different rules of scouting by the first class scouts. Taps closed the meeting. There will be no meeting on Thursday, November 26, but there will be on the following Thursday, December 3.

Scribe, Stella L. Habib.

German Envoy Makes Visit To Stanley Baldwin

Believe Important Information Is Given To British Prime Minister

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 23.—Important information touching on the troubled international situation was believed conveyed to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin today in a visit from Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German ambassador.

The visit was described as a "courtesy call," but von Ribbentrop, who has often performed special missions for Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, had just come back from Berlin, where he conferred with Hitler.

The ambassador talked with Baldwin for half an hour, his visit coinciding with reports that Germany is about to break off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Correct This Sentence: "A lottery is wicked and illegal," said the judge, "and therefore the government can't take part of the winnings."

The total area of the Aleutian islands is 6,391 square miles.

Higher Court Refuses Appeal For New Trial And Says Westwood Lucky

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Affirming his life sentence, the state supreme court today asserted Squire James J. Westwood was lucky to have escaped the electric chair for the slaying of his wife, Martha.

Dismissing the dapper McKees political leader's plea for a new trial the seven supreme court justices upheld in every particular the decision of an Allegheny county jury which doomed him to life imprisonment and the conduct of the trial.

Bluntly declaring that Westwood had "betrayed a guilty conscience," the supreme court opinion, written by justice George W. Maxey, of Scranton, declared:

"Had the highest permissible penalty (death) been imposed, an appeal for its reduction to the lesser penalty complained of, (life) would have found this record barren of a single mitigating fact for its support."

Three Theories
Are Pursued In Slaying Probe

Pittsburgh Police Investigate Three Possibilities
In Death Of Joe
Girarde

WAS FORMER
DETROIT THUG

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Police today pursued three theories in their investigation of the typical gangland murder of Joseph Girarde, 34, a former Detroit gangster.

The theories were that:
1. A blackhand gang was involved.
2. Girarde had figured in some manner in the recent America club holdup here and had "double crossed" his accomplices.
3. He was a victim of mistaken identity.

Had Detroit Record
The Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph obtained pictures from Detroit, meanwhile, which seemed to establish beyond reasonable doubt that Girarde was in reality Joseph Girard, a one-time bodyguard for "Big Chet" LaMare, a murdered overlord of Detroit racketeering. The Detroit Girard filed from Michigan in 1931 after turning state's evidence in the murder of LaMare.

Girarde was mowed down by a brown-clad, mild-mannered gunman who poured four more slugs into his head as he lay writhing on the street with a bullet in his abdomen. It was Pittsburgh's first major racket slaying since the massacre of the Volpe brothers several years ago.

At the time of his slaying, Girarde had among his effects a silver and ebony crucifix, attached to a chain studded with five diamonds. Detectives said the crucifix was similar to crosses carried by the Volpe brothers; by the Monastere brothers when gangland guns cut them down in 1928 and by Louis Lamendola, whose "execution" in 1926 started a wave of racket killings.

Go clear across the country to California, and you will find on the University of Southern California Team De Verona, Radovich and Dubosky. In Northern California, on the Team known as "The Gaels of St. Mary's" there are Dennerlein, Kordeck, Giannoni and Rimassa. Further north on the Idaho State Football Team, there are Trzuskowski and Parkov. Naturally, on the Minnesota Team you will find some Swedes and Germans. It is so all over the Nation. The strong youths of the Nation are not English. Why? Have the English been swallowed by the Swede and Slav, the German and the Italian or is the blood of the nationals better than English blood? This is something for the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Colonial Dames to think about.

OUR ENERGETIC Postmaster General James A. Farley, visiting Ireland to look for the home of his grandfather, is immediately claimed by two Irish towns, one in West Meath, the other in Meath. Each one gave him an address of welcome and a banquet.

Something of the kind happened long ago:
"Seven cities warred for Homer being dead.
Who living had no roote to shrowd his head."
Mr. Farley fortunately, is prosperous while he lives, no difficulty about a "roote to shrowd his head."

COLOMBIA has written a new Constitution, authorizing its government, among other things, to confiscate private property without paying the owners. Conservative citizens of Colombia call that "Communist," which seems hardly an exaggeration.

HERE IN AMERICA, so called "coal bootleggers" in Pennsylvania, taking and selling coal from mines owned by others, excuse their lawless activity as follows: "God made the coal, it was there, the rich stole it." Even that might not be an excuse for somebody else stealing it. Also it should be remembered that a long time, but it was necessary for Columbus to discover it. It is necessary for somebody to discover the coal, gold, copper and other things and tell duller men where to dig for it. He who tells where to dig is entitled to his reward.

THE PHOENICIANS who sailed past Gibraltar to England to show Barbarians where to dig for tin, were entitled to their share of the tin. They should not, however, have dragged the barbarians back with them to be sold as slaves.

And those that own coal mines should not operate under conditions that give a good imitation of slavery.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT will visit a great Argentine cattle farm during his short stay in Buenos Aires, and see a big farm and many cattle. It might remind him of the Hungarian magnate who heard an English landlord telling how many sheep he had and remarked, "Very interesting, the number of your sheep happens to be about the same as the number of my shepherds."

MR. GREEN'S American Federation of Labor, in its war against Mr. Lewis' rival "Committee for Industrial Organization," officially cots the union label on the United Garment Workers Union, that sides with Mr. Lewis, against Mr. Green.

One section of union labor boycotting and fighting another section makes it hard for union labor. (Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

Start Tests At
Proposed Sites
Of River Dams

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Test borings are now under way at eight of the nine tentatively selected sites for flood control reservoirs in the Allegheny-Monongahela river watershed, it was announced today by the Tri-State Authority.

Geologists are expected to report by January 1 whether the sub-surface rock strata is suitable for the proposed concrete dams, the announcement was made. Drilling operations were started nearly two weeks ago at Tionesta, Red Bank and Crooked Creek dam sites. Similar work is now being instituted at the French Creek, Mahoning Creek, Conemaugh river, Loyalhanna Creek and Allegheny river locations.

State Senator W. B. Rodgers, president of the Tri-State Authority, will attend the Mississippi Valley Association meetings today and tomorrow in St. Louis for the purpose of enlisting the cooperation of rivermen in support of the upper Ohio basin flood control program.

Musical Program
At Trinity Church

People of the congregation, some of them musicians, as they went out of Trinity church last evening complimented highly the organist, the senior choir, the soloists, the violinist on the rendition of the violin music announced in Saturday's issue of "The News." Favorable comment emphasized the shading, beauty of expression, contrasts, devotion and religious atmosphere of the whole service.

The selection of the Psalms, scripture lesson, and the address by the rector on the lives of the musicians and their special contribution to Christianity were of added interest, something new, something different. Future plans include the more elaborate music to be heard at the midnight service on Christmas Eve, December 24, at 11:30 p. m., and on the next Sunday evening, December 7, at 7:30 o'clock, when the Christmas play, "The Shepherd's Children," will be presented by the boys and girls of the church school, under the supervision of Miss Betty Glover.

BEAMISH URGES
BROAD REVISION
OF UTILITY LAWS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—A broad revision of laws governing utilities of Pennsylvania was recommended today to Gov. George H. Earle by Richard J. Beamish, counsel for the public service commission. The recommendations were "designed to speed the revision of rate schedules of all kinds and classes of public service companies, particularly electric light and power companies."

They are in line with Governor Earle's previously announced plan, Beamish said, to give Pennsylvania lower utility rates and eliminate "prolonged and costly litigation in rate cases."

Publicity has always been pretty important. Lief Erickson discovered America 500 years before Columbus—but look who has been getting the credit!

German Engineer
May Get Clemency

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Nov. 23.—Executive clemency was considered by the Soviet government today in the case of E. I. Strickling, German engineer sentenced to death at Novosibirsk for sabotage, as reports Germany might sever diplomatic relations if the execution is carried out reached Moscow.

While no official statement was forthcoming, it was regarded possible the government would commute the sentence and report Strickling rather than precipitate a break in relations.

Declaring the charges against Strickling are "founded," Count Friedrich von der Schulenberg, the German ambassador, asked the Soviet foreign office to support his petition for clemency.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Good Will Trip Is Emphasized

President Travels Long Distance For Visit Of But A Day In South America

NOT GOING TO OPEN MEETING

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Say whatever else the G. O. P. may of President Roosevelt, his severest critics must recognize in him one supremely likable quality—he has tact.

His trip to Buenos Aires for the Inter-American peace conference is a gesture calculated to appeal immensely to Latin sentiment throughout the new world. The very fact that President Roosevelt can spare time for only an overnight stay in the Argentine capital emphasizes the compliment. A president of the United States doesn't travel from half way between the Equator and the North Pole to half way between the Equator and the South Pole, and back again, for a 24-hour visit, on anything that he doesn't consider mightily important business.

It is thus that Latin Americans like to have the importance of business with them assessed; they have that kind of a complex. Uncle Sam, until recently, has been entirely oblivious of it, consequently making himself very unpopular south of the Rio Grande. President Roosevelt's trip goes a long distance toward living down this unpopularity.

"PARTICIPATE"—NOT "OPEN"

President Roosevelt also was asked—Was he going to Buenos Aires to "open" the Inter-American peace conference?

"No," he said—he was going to "participate" in it.

He could not have expressed himself more gracefully.

And that fashion of expression is what Latin America loves—pavement, in short. European diplomacy has relied on it in that field, and always has beaten the United States at it by miles and miles.

Earlier, Yankee presidents were overbearing. President Hoover was well-intentioned but not affable enough. President Roosevelt is "simpatico"—"understanding" perhaps is the best translation.

BRITISH POSSESSION

The president's call at Port of Spain, Island of Trinidad, on his southward trip (to re-fuel) and on his return (when he'll re-fuel again and land, too, to see the British governor general) simplify nothing. Trinidad belongs to John Bull.

The entrance to the harbor is interesting—through what's known as the Mouth of the Dragon. There are two fierce cliffs, one on each side—the dragon's respective jaws. There is safe anchorage inside.

Port of Spain, a sizable city, is 95 per cent Negro. Negro managements run the stores. My little daughter, when I touched at Port of Spain, north bound from Buenos Aires, needed medical attention at Trinidad. All the port authorities (British, white) recommended a Negro doctor.

And he was a good doctor, I'll say.

BEAUTIFUL RIO

After touching (southward bound) at Port of Spain, President Roosevelt's ship will put in at Rio de Janeiro.

It is the most spectacularly beautiful port in the world.

Then Buenos Aires.

"B. A." (generally so-called by English-speaking folk) is the world's second Latin city—next after Paris. It is about the size of Chicago, which is too big for the population of the country back of it—a population of 10,000,000 or thereabouts.

Economically speaking, the balance is bad—too much urban labor to too few farmers.

It is a fine city, but as flat as a pancake, which detracts from its looks. Its appearance is not theatrical, like Rio de Janeiro's.

WHERE PRESIDENT DOCKS

Mar del Plata, they say, is where President Roosevelt's ships—the cruiser Indianapolis and its attendant craft, the Chester—will be docked.

Mar del Plata in reality is a "B. A." suburb.

The port of "B. A." has accommodations for cruisers such as the Indianapolis and the Chester, but not quite the facilities to meet the requirements of large men-o'-war.

THEN TO "MONTY"

Returning, the president is to visit Montevideo.

"Monty," as it is nicknamed, is a rather short overnight's steaming from "B. A.", across the mouth of the Rio de la Plata—about as far as from Detroit to Cleveland.

It is not nearly so large as "B. A.", but it is a lovely little city to the eye, being built on a slope facing its harbor, where it shows to advantage. Montevideo means, in Spanish, "I have seen a mountain".

It isn't a mountain. At most it is a sizable hill, but it does give an impression of considerable altitude, rising out of the dead-level flatness of the surrounding terrain.

ROUGH RIDING

Next, home again, with one more stopover at Port of Spain.

It is fortunate that President Roosevelt is a good sailor, for cruisers, while fast, have a reputation for making the most of rough weather.

Still, it is to be borne in mind that this will be a summer voyage in large part. There may be high seas to the northward, but to the southward the ocean, at this season, generally is calm.

It is hot, to be sure, but, at that, the equator is not so extravagantly hot. It is hot 365 days in the year, but I have seen specific days in Washington which were more oppressive than ever I saw at Para, where I spent some time—and Para, at sea level, too, is less than a geographical degree south of the line.

Tomorrow I will give a little additional South American gossip. I know some of its intimacies, after living there for a half dozen years.

AROUND CITY HALL

Snow having twice covered thoroughfares this fall police will give strict attention to the light at North Jefferson and Grant streets. During non-skiid weather traffic is directed by red and green lights, but as soon as the snow falls police are directed to convert the signal into a flasher to warn descending cars of an intersection. All cars are supposed to stop in Grant street before entering Jefferson street.

It is not probable there will be any scarcity of ashes this winter. The streets department collected a mountain of ashes during the summer time.

Some weeks ago it was decided by council that the head of each department would take an inventory of city equipment. No doubt this is under way although no formal reports have been received during council meeting from the department heads.

It is not likely that any propositions to furnish city motor vehicles with gasoline at service stations will be discussed before the first of the year. When it was proposed that the city vehicles fuel at different stations instead of city operated pumps it was explained by Councilman J. D. Alexander that arrangements already had been made to buy December gas from concerns whose turn it was to receive the business.

Bruno Verdict Is Upheld By State Court

State Supreme Court Upholds Convictions Of Six In Kelayres Political Massacre

TWO-YEAR CASE FINALLY ENDED

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Climaxing two years of trials and legal maneuvering, the state supreme court today upheld the conviction of six members of the Bruno clan, now inmates of eastern penitentiary, for the bloody election eve massacre in the little mining town of Kelayres.

Five men were killed and twelve persons, including several children in a Democratic parade were wounded by a shotgun and rifle fusillade of gunfire as the marchers swung in front of the home of Joseph Bruno, one-time Republican leader of Kelayres, on election eve, 1934.

Stiff Sentences The high tribunal's opinion written by Justice James B. Drew orders the records of the case remitted to the Schuylkill county court for the purpose of carrying out the sentences imposed by Judge Benjamin Jones of Luzerne county, who presided at most of the trials, president Judge Roy Hicks and Judge Cyrus Palmer and Henry Houck.

Joseph J. Bruno, was sentenced to serve three life terms; his brother, Philip, to life; his sons, James, 31, and Alfred, 26, to 10 to 20 years terms for second degree murder and Arthur Bruno, son of Philip, to five to 10 years and a fine of $50. Tony Orlando, relative of Joseph Bruno by marriage, was sentenced to serve 10 to 20 years for second degree murder.

Life insurance figures show that one child out of every 280 children born in the United States is born after its father's death.

Dreamer Must Die In Chair

State Supreme Court Refuses To Interfere With Death Sentence For Slayer

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Robert Dreamer, 38-year-old railroad employee of Washington, Pa., today lost another chance to escape death in the electric chair for the cold-blooded, attack-murder of pretty Theima Young.

Refusing to interfere with the death sentence imposed by a jury of eight men and four women, the state supreme court, in an opinion written by Justice George W. Maxey, ruled Dreamer had had a fair trial and upheld the lower court's refusal to grant him a new trial.

Ohio Wants State Song And Colors

(International News Service) CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 23.—The state of Ohio may soon select official colors and an official song, and all as the result of a banquet.

The sentiment of the Ohioans was spurred recently when the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce Pitt-state good-will banquet was held.

For the programs it was decided to print the state seal in the official colors and to include the state song. Inquiries in Columbus revealed this sentiment lacking in Ohio's makeup. Accordingly the Pittsburghers used "Carmen Ohio," the Ohio State university's football song, and rigged up a color scheme for the seal, with the following request:

Is it too much to hope that our idea of coloring may meet with official approval and be officially adopted?

Hospitals' Role Vital One, As Recent Incident Reveals

NOTE.—Community Chest authorities revealed this true hospital case today only to give citizens an insight into one small service rendered recently by a Chest agency. It was a small service—but it saved a man's life!

"A sick man, past middle life, goes to a physician's office for treatment. He is suffering with attacks of bronchial asthma which have been getting worse lately. His heart is getting weaker due to the strain of the asthma and the superimposed stiffening of the arteries and high blood pressure."

He is very anxious to get to the doctor to get some relief from this unusual attack of asthma and strains himself hurrying to the doctor and collapses in the doctor's waiting room. The doctor rushes out, examines the man and finds him dark in the face—his tongue protruding—his eyes bulging.

"I am dying, doctor," the man whispers. The doctor gives him an injection, some medicine, takes his pulse—re-examines the man. His condition is the same. He looks desperate. He thinks the man is dying but he does not give up. He thinks that oxygen may save the man and rushes him to the New Castle hospital, the man arrives at the hospital moribund but at the hospital they are ready for him and oxygen is immediately given with other medication. The man rallies and slowly improves. All night oxygen is administered as needed. Constant supervision and hospital attention saves the man's life and he is discharged a few days later."

CLAIMS Cancer Is Curable Disease

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Dr. Lester Hollander, medical director of the Pittsburgh Skin and Cancer Foundation, in a speech here recently declared:

"Cancer is a curable disease—procrastination, waiting, unscientific handling, and bungling are the real reasons for the high death rate which it produces."

With Rep. William Bankhead of Alabama certain of reelection as speaker of the house, the big organization fight centers on the leadership.

While some of O'Connor's friends say that a northern member should be selected since Bankhead comes from the south, his recognized spokesmen deny the sectional issue.

"This is not a sectional matter," said Rep. Sol Bloom (D) of New York. "We are asking Mr. O'Connor's election on the ground that he is best qualified for the post. I hope that the sectional issue does not become prominent. Nor should religion or nationality figure in any such election. In my opinion such issues won't get far."

Pittsburgh Man Is Beaten And Robbed

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Police today spread out a drag-net for three "strong-arm" thugs who beat Z. Reichbaum, 60, near his home last night and escaped with $680. The money represented the day's receipts from his son's delicatessen store.

Seek To Outlaw Strike-Breaking Organizations

(International News Service) TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 23.—The American federation of labor is preparing, and will urge every state legislature to adopt legislation outlawing professional strike-breaking organizations, most of them masquerading as "detective agencies."

This was announced in a ringing voice today by the federations' president, William Green, as the A. F. of L. convention whooped through a resolution supporting its legislature committee's denunciation of these agencies and calling on the friends of labor to see that the special senate investigations of labor spy activities be continued.

Two Business Places Robbed

Thieves entered two business places some time last night, according to police, the Shaffer & Snyder drug store in South Mill street, and the Davis Tyrol gas station also on South Mill street having been robbed. At the drug store cigarettes and candy were stolen and at the gas station, oil and a battery were taken.

AVALANCHE HITS MAIN STREET OF JUNEAU, ALASKA

tain side while the city slept, smashing the buildings like matchwood. There was silence for a few seconds and then shouting men and women roused the city to action.

Juneau, capital of Alaska, is the place where gold first was discovered in the territory, a discovery which led to the historic gold rush of 1898. Near it is the Alaska-Juneau gold mine, second largest in the world.

Population Is 6,000. Population of Juneau is 6,000, virtually all of whom, except the sick and infants, were at the scene of the huge slide.

Juneau, located on a narrow plot at the foot of rugged mountains, has been subject to such slides during the past several years, other avalanches having swept away homes as recently as the past year but none was killed.

A heavy rainfall, ranging from half an inch to one and one-half inches, loosened the soil on the mountain, causing hundreds of tons to suddenly galvanize into action and begin the terrific descent which swept all before it today.

It was some time after the first shock, which threw the city into darkness as power lines went down, before communication was re-established with Seattle and other distant points.

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 23.—Five bodies were removed from the wreckage of several buildings wrecked by the avalanche, rescue workers reported this morning as the search continued.

Ten persons injured in the avalanche were taken to the small Juneau hospital.

All were removed from the edge of the slumy mass. Little hopes were held for others believed buried farther back.

Attracted by faint cries, rescuers found one woman imprisoned by the twisted, steel wreckage of a building framework. Using an acetylene torch, firemen cut away the metal and freed her.

Digging the debris away was slow as more mud slid down the mountain side and shoved the mass toward Gastineau channel.

Not before tonight, police estimated, will it be known how many persons died in the catastrophe. Some, it was believed, might have fled from the buildings, only to be overwhelmed by the mud and rocks which hurtled down upon them.

With advance of the morning, the overloaded emergency power system weakened and communications failed again.

Signals from the local station of the U. S. army signal corps radio were so weak they could not be picked up at Seattle headquarters. The cable and radio system maintained by the army furnishes the only communications between Alaska and the United States.

Governor John W. Troy and Mayor Golden ordered all city and territorial departments to co-operate in the rescue work.

RELIEF BURDEN IS SOMEWHAT LIGHTER (International News Service) HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—Pennsylvania's direct relief burden was lightened by 1,554 cases, representing 6,181 persons, during the second week in November, it was disclosed today.

Improved business conditions and transfers to the federal works program was held responsible for the reduction, resulting from the closing of 5,424 cases and opening of 3,870.

MEET WEDNESDAY Council will meet Wednesday instead of Thursday, it was decided today. Thursday is Thanksgiving day.

Name Casts For College Plays

Four One-Act Plays To Be Presented At Westminster Soon

TO BE PRODUCED IN LITTLE THEATRE

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 23.—Cast have been selected for the second Little Theatre showing at Westminster college for the 1936-37 season, made up of four one-act plays to be given December 9, 11 and 12, under the direction of Professor Albert T. Corday and student directing assistants.

In "The Theatre of the Soul," dual-personality drama, Avalon Le Monte, Mr. Lebanon, will play Emotion; Thomas Sturgeon, Brooklyn, N. Y., Intellect, and Joseph Andrews, Pittsburgh, Spirit. Two double-cast roles will be shared by Donna Jean Beall, New Castle, and Florence Sando, Wilkinsburg, as the wife; and Florence Heintz, Sharon, and Nancy Westlake, Pensacola, Fla., as the singer. Kenneth Poulton, Warren, O., is the professor; Lester Black, Butler, the porter, and Margaret Shaw, New Castle, student director.

For "The Happy Journey," all roles are double cast except the part cast for Pa, taken by Robert Himes, Erie. "Ma" will be played by Kay Freeman, Greensburg, and Marion Thompson, New Castle; Caroline, the young daughter, by Lucille Purdy, Coraopolis, and Beverly Blythe, Charleroi; Beulah, the married daughter, by Ruth David, Butler, and Margaret Lyle, Houston, Charles Schaffer, Malvern, and Kay Ingold, Pittsburgh, are cast as stage directors. Izora Mangun, Altoona, will direct the play.

Sally Smith, New Wilmington, will direct the cast for "Out Front," with a cast made up of Elizabeth Cone, Crafton; Mary Jane Dickson, Pittsburgh; Marlowe Held, Pittsburgh; Mary Hely, Westfield, N. J.; Betty McConahy, New Castle; Dorothy Schultz, Homestead; Carroll Anderson, Mercer; Spencer Davis, Philadelphia; George Horshenrocher, Pittsburgh; Earl Johnson, Erie; Russell Leiby, Youngstown; Richard Morris, Warren, O.; Robert Harder, Allison Park; John Ruffalo, Youngstown; Al Smith, Pittsburgh, and Merrill Straw, Turtle Creek.

Cast in "The Rising of the Moon," an Irish drama in a seaport town on a moonlit night, includes James Goodchild, New Castle, a sergeant; the ragged man, Monas Harlan, New Wilmington, and a policeman, Stanley Lutton, Buffalo, N. Y. Student director for the play is Cornelia Luca, Farrell.

Friend Of Local People Dies At Age Of 94 Years

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stillings of Walnut street have received word of the death of Mrs. Margaret Trinke of Ruffsedale, Pa., mother of a former resident of East Washington street, Mrs. J. P. Kooser.

Mrs. Trinke observed her 94th birthday on last Wednesday, November 18. On the following day she passed away and funeral services were conducted Sunday at the home. Interment was made in Norristown, Pa., cemetery.

Members of the New Castle lodge of Elks and their friends will take part in the lodge's annual Turkey and Fall social, on Tuesday evening, November 24, at 8 o'clock.

Labor Decision Expected Today

A. F. Of L. Decision On Lewis' Unions Will Likely Be Made Today

SUSPENSION IS LIKELY VERDICT

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT International News Service Staff Correspondent

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 23.—History will write this day as the beginning of a new era for organized labor in America.

Before midnight, unless carefully laid plans go awry, the American Federation of Labor, assembled here in annual convention will decide its policy toward the ten rebel unions of John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organizations.

These unions were suspended from a F. of L. membership in September by the federation executive council, after they joined Lewis and his united mine workers in a defiant drive to organize the steel industry along mass or industrial lines. Today the full membership of the A. F. of L. will vote to determine whether that suspension shall be confirmed and continued indefinitely, the unions shall be reinstated, or be finally expelled from the parent organization.

A careful check-up of sentiment among delegates revealed that only one thought dominated the majority—definite suspension, with the executive council empowered to meet or initiate any new peace negotiations which opportunity presents.

On the minority side, President John P. Frey of the A. F. of L. metal trades department was almost alone in his determination to bring about expulsion of the Lewis faction.

Again a militant minority seeking reinstatement of the CIO unions had no chance for success, but will provide much of the verbal warfare against the old guard majority set on suspension.

Orphan Boy Is Fire Victim

Home For Orphans At Clarksburg, West Virginia, Burns, Is Summer Camp

(International News Service) CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 23.—Flames swept the Kappa Sigma Pi home for orphan boys on the West Fork river about five miles from here early today, burning at least one boy to death, according to first reports.

The victim was identified as Richard Nutter.

The home is a summer camp and it was not immediately explained why Nutter and several companions were there at the time.

Auto Crashes Into Man On Stretcher

BAYONNE, N. J., Nov. 23.—Joseph Paurz, 44, was hurled to his death here Sunday when an automobile crashed into the stretcher on which he was being carried after he was struck and injured by another car. Four stretcher bearers were injured.

The machine which plowed through the stretcher party stopped after crashing into an ambulance. Police rescued the driver as the crowd at the scene became menacing.

Booked as Peter Jackson, 26, Jersey City, he was convicted of drunken driving, sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $500. He was also held in $5,000 bail on a charge of manslaughter.

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO MEET Special business will be discussed at an important session of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at The Castleton tonight at 8.

On Court House Hill

Additional polling places will be made in the first, third, fourth, fifth and eighth ward, according to a survey completed by the county commissioner, and Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds, County Solicitor William McElwaine, Jr., will present a petition to court, asking that another voting precinct be made in each of the more populous districts in the above wards. The election boards were able to handle the recent vote in these precincts for the reason that there were so many straight party ticket votes. However, it is not believed that the boards would be able to handle a primary, where more time is required by the voter in marking his ballot.

The pungent odor of skunk permeated the court house Saturday following the visit of a local trapper to the sheriff's office. The trapper said that he had dug out a nest of skunks and had caught some of them with his hands. Attached to the sheriff's office did not doubt his word after he had been in the office for a few minutes. Deputy Sheriff Ben Hartland started to talk to the trapper when he came in, but didn't notice much wrong, until the man's clothes began to get warmed up and the perfume began to permeate the office. Then the windows had to be thrown open, but not before the whole court house had been polluted. It was several hours before normal breathing could be resumed.

Numerous inquiries have been received at the prothonotary's office during the past few days regarding naturalization court which convened this morning. Some of the men who are to be naturalized or their witnesses are working, and didn't like to lose time. The notices sent out told the applicants that court would convene at 8 o'clock and the most of them thought that they had to appear at that time. However they have been informed that they can come in any time during the day. Several reported the illness of one of their witnesses. In cases of this kind a doctor's certificate will entitle the applicant to choose another witness. Each applicant must have two witnesses.

SEEK CITIZENSHIP

MERCER, Nov. 23.—Twenty-four applicants for citizenship appeared yesterday in the prothonotary's office to take preliminary examinations given by examiners. Final examinations will be held the first Monday in May.

County employees will enjoy another holiday Thursday when all offices will be closed for Thanksgiving. However they won't get as much rest as employees of the state departments, who will be given a vacation from next Wednesday evening until the following Monday. This is so that employees who live away from Harrisburg can spend their Thanksgiving at home.

Reports 3,991 Illiterates In Lawrence County

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—Illiteracy is costing Lawrence county's uneducated approximately $622,590 annually in decreased earning power, it was estimated today by specialists in the United States Department of Education.

According to Dr. L. R. Alderman, adult education authority of the department and a nationally recognized scholar on the subject, Lawrence county has 3,991 illiterates who contribute to the annual loss in earning power to the community.

Dr. Alderman bases his figure on a survey made a few years ago by the Department of Interior, in which it was, he said, conclusively proved that workers not having the equivalent of a sixth grade education lose a minimum of fifty cents a day for every working day of their lives.

This loss, Dr. Alderman explained, is in addition to the county burden of supporting the aged illiterate and the added cost of crime, slum conditions and disease chargeable to illiteracy, that must be met by the local state and Federal governments, but which could be avoided by proper education.

Under Dr. Alderman's supervision, the problem of educating the approximately 3,000,000 illiterate in the nation is being combated through Adult Education Projects of the Bureau of Education.

There is only one instance of a Catholic priest serving in either branch of congress. Father Gabriel Richard of Detroit was elected delegate from the Territory of Michigan to the 18th congress, March 4, 1823, to March 3, 1825.

School Singers Return Home

Took Part In All-State
Chorus Concert At Ebensburg, Pa.

MEDALS GIVEN TO ALL STUDENTS

Pleased with the success of the All-State chorus concert held in Ebensburg, Pa., on Saturday night, November 21, Joe F. Replegle, director of music for the senior high school and the representatives of Lawrence County have returned home. This was the first time an all state student's chorus was attended and the success of it in Ebensburg means the continuation of it.

New Castle was represented by Sara Nitsche, soprano, Dorothy Frey, alto, Fred Riley, tenor and Franklin Rice, bass. New Wilmington had three representatives, Mary McLaughry, soprano, Helen Francis, alto, and John Galbreath, bass. Shenango Township had two representatives, Alice Koski, soprano and Sylvia Haltunen, second soprano. William Nelson, a bass represented Bessemer.

Started Thursday

The idea of an all-state chorus grew out of the success of the all-state band and orchestra. With such men as W. Fred Orth, of Coatesville, as president, Gordon F. Williams, of Ebensburg, vice president, Lina B. Yeager, of Verona, as secretary and Cyrus D. Thompson, of Hollidaysburg as treasurer, the chorus idea took form and on Thursday representatives of 200 schools met in Ebensburg.

Each singer was tested by Olaf C. Christiansen, director of music for Oberlin College and assigned according to merit. The New Castle and Lawrence County singers were given seats well up in the front ranks.

On Saturday night the chorus concert was held in Ebensburg and according to Joe F. Replegle was a splendid success. Medals were given to each student participating, and scholarship awards in various colleges were made. There awards were contested for by seniors who were interested. Lawrence County did not enter these.

The objectives of the Pennsylvania School Music Association are many. The standard of music in school will be raised because of it. Students are given the opportunity of singing under the direction of some of the finest conductors in the country, teachers are enabled to observe methods of acknowledged leaders in music. Mr. Replegle is delighted with the success of the chorus in Ebensburg and believes that such things mean much to music in the schools.

Two Girls And Boy Are Killed

Triple Fatality Occurs At
Uniontown On Saturday Night

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 23.—Two girls and a boy, members of a gay, youthful party of six returning from a bridal shower, met sudden death almost at their own doorsteps at Colonial No. 3, near here Saturday night when their automobile raced down a steep crossing slope in a blinding sleet storm and crashed against a Monongahela railroad train.

The car was dragged 200 feet along the tracks, spilling out two of the dead and three who were injured. The gasoline tank burst and ignited, cremating a 14-year-old girl before trainmen were aware of the accident.

The dead are: Mike Kozal, 19; Annie Shinsky, 14, and Amy Urlick, 15, all of Colonial No. 3.

Taken back to the hospital at Brownsville, where they had attended the party a short time before were: Josephine Kozinsky, 14; Dorothy Govenors, 14, both of Colonial No. 3, and George Billy, 18, of Colonial No. 1. Billy, who was thrown out when a door snapped off, was able to leave the hospital after emergency treatment.

The two girls—Miss Kozinsky, with internal and leg injuries, and Miss Govenors, with head wounds and an injured left leg—were under treatment there today.

Kozal was driving the car which smashed against the train between the engine and caboose. The impact derailed the train which came to a halt on a trestle. The first indication of tragedy to Miss Shinsky came when their lights fell on Shinsky's hand protruding from the wreckage.

Rough Approach On West Side Bridge Is Being Repaired

Portion Of Bridge Entrance
Left Unfinished To Receive
Coat Of Amesite

In order to open the West Washington street bridge over the Shenango river as soon as possible after recent bridge repairs, a small portion on the end towards town was not covered with amesite. This did not hinder the movement of traffic over the bridge, but it made the one approach very rough for motorists. Workmen began this morning to complete this small strip of approach by preparing it for an amesite surface. As this work is being done in the center of the bridge extreme caution was necessary on the part of motorists in order to avoid accidents, this morning.

HOUSE TO HOUSE FIGHTING IN MADRID NOW

Worst Type Of Fighting Seen

Houses And Apartments Are Captured One Floor At A Time

MADRID DEFENDERS MAY TAKE FLIGHT

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE WHITE ARMY IN MADRID'S SUBURBS, Nov. 23.—Spain's civil war has now become a contest of the kind most dreaded by soldiers trained or untrained, namely, house-to-house fighting in a desperate struggle for possession of Madrid, and today the White troops, supported by heavy shell-fire, shot and hand-grenaded their way into control of the model prison and Montana barracks.

From these two points broad avenues lead to the Puerta Del Sol, Madrid's 42nd and Broadway.

Battle For Streets
The Whites and Reds are still contesting the streets around the prison and the barracks, but both buildings are now isolated from the defending forces.

To dominate these two fortresses required a type of fighting much worse than anything on an ordinary battlefield.

From the farthest advance posts down the streets of Madrid go corps of the Whites' finest shock troops.

They shoot for two hours or more into the ground floor of houses occupied by the enemy. Having cleared out the ground floor, the Whites rush the building and from the ground floor shoot upwards through the ceiling into the floor above still held by the Reds.

They then storm one floor at a time, until at the fifth floor they clear out the last remaining suicide soldiers of the Red militia, who have orders either to keep their positions or die.

They are told that if they abandon their posts they will be shot by the Red authorities.

Battle Way
Thus the Whites have battled their way through the Reds' left flank to the hospital for epidemic diseases, and from there down through the university city, now exclusively controlled by the Whites, to the vicinity of the model prison and Montana barracks, and within striking distance of the heart of the city.

White tanks have crossed the Manzanares river, and are patrolling the two great boulevards of Rosales and Principe, and it would only seem a question of time before the Whites will command so much of the city that its Red defenders will break and flee.

To promote this flight, the Whites have left the road to Valencia uncut and open, but so far not enough of the Reds have taken advantage of it materially to change the military position.

Yet it is felt on this side that it is better to get away at the last minute, than to cut them off and put their backs against a wall with no choice to fight and die.

For the last three days the miserable, rainy, cold, dark, weather has left the Whites without the enormously important support of their aerial bombardment.

According to authoritative reports, the White fighters have brought down during the war 117 Red planes with the loss of 15 White planes.

Nevertheless the Reds still have a sufficient number of speedy American-made Russian fighting planes to make the position uncomfortable, particularly if any further shipments from Russia to Spain are accomplished.

Gen. Francisco Franco's fleet may now come into action and check further contributions to the Red forces, such as the 2,000 men of the international brigade and the airplanes which, as one competent observer remarked, comprise every known type of first-class machine, just as the Red international brigade comprises volunteers of every nationality, including even anti-Nazi German and anti-Fascist Italians.

Debate Tourney Being Planned
Fifteen Colleges To Share Program At Westminster On December 5

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—Westminster College will be host to 15 colleges of Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania, Saturday, December 5, at the fourth annual debate tournament held by Tau Kappa Alpha, debating fraternity.

The subject to be debated is, "Resolved: That congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry." Each college will be represented by two teams, a negative and an affirmative; debate coaches will act as judges.

Members of the Westminster debate teams will be Rex Rowland, New Castle and Robert Henderson, Avalon, affirmative; and Sidney Isenberg, Sharon and Charles Shaffer, Mahoningtown, negative. James Ewalt, Polk, TKA president will have charge of all arrangements.

New U. S. Posters For Display Here
Urges Registration Of Workers Under Social Security Program

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—Postmaster Steen is being forward for display a new poster urging workers to cooperate in expediting the setting up of old age benefit accounts.

The poster is done in red, white and blue and features Uncle Sam's hand holding out "a month's check to you." It appeals to workers to act promptly and "get your social security account now."

The poster then lists those eligible to participate in the old age benefits program, directs them to get account cards from employers or Postmaster Steen, and explains how the cards may be filed.

The post office department has directed Postmaster Steen to display the poster in a conspicuous place in the post office lobby.

20-W Motor Oil

Flows at 20° Below Zero
Three years ago Sunoco 20-W Oil led the way to sure-fire winter starting... and it still leads! No other winter oil has matched these unique records of Sunoco 20-W for quick starting and long mileage.

QUICK-STARTING RECORD
America's eleven most popular makes of cars were all frozen to below zero in a huge refrigerator. Impartial timing officials certified that all the cars started in average of four-fifths of a second—Sunoco 20-W Oil permitted each motor to snap over instantly without any drag on the battery.

LONG-MILEAGE RECORD
Mr. Louis Chevrolet, famous driver and designer, accompanied by an American Automobile Association official, in a test run through 13 states, drove over five thousand miles in a Chevrolet car at an average speed of 42 m. p. h. on less than four quarts of Sunoco W Motor Oil. Precautions were taken against oil leakage.

If you haven't changed to Sunoco 20-W you'd better change today for easier winter starting.

Capacity Crowd At Big Revival Meeting Sunday

U. P. Church Is Scene Of
First Union Service Of Revival Campaign
In Ellwood

REV. H. M. LINTZ
DELIVERS SERMON

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—If the first union service of the Ellwood City Ministerial Association evangelistic campaign is any indication of future attendance, arrangements had better be made for much larger quarters. Every available space was taken up in the U. P. church on Sunday evening when a capacity crowd responded for this initial service.

The Rev. Harry M. Lintz and his evangelistic party made a deep impression on their listeners. The evangelistic address was preceded by a number of interesting features. Herbert A. Farrar, a gifted song leader and soloist, favored with a number of selections and also led the singing for the evening. Miss Vera Schrag of Kansas was the pianist. There were also selections by the union choir under the direction of Mr. Farrar. This choir also had a capacity turnout.

Following this Rev. Lintz brought his message on "The New Jerusalem." He told of many interesting facts of this city which is well planned and governed. It is a Christian city—pure and blessed. "The inhabitants follow Christ's way to truth and life," Rev. Lintz stated in closing. His message was inspiring and delivered in a touching manner.

Preceding the services there was a union choir rehearsal at 2 o'clock. At 5 o'clock the evangelistic party and the ministers and their wives were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. B. G. Osterhouse at tea in the parlors of the First Baptist church, at which all became acquainted. Then at 6:30 there was a Young People's service.

The union services will be held every evening at 7:30 except Saturday. They are open to the public. A service will be held this evening for the school children from 4 to 5 p. m. The Young People's Council will meet at 7:25. A prayer meeting at 7:45.

Joan, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnston of Crescent avenue, is confined to her home with chicken pox.

Miss Anna Johns Becomes Bride Of Ernest Babcock

Interesting Wedding Occurs
Saturday At Manse Of Slippery Rock Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—An interesting event occurred Saturday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Anna Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johns of the New Castle road became the bride of Ernest Babcock, son of Mrs. Myrtle Babcock of First avenue.

The wedding took place at three o'clock at the manse of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church with the pastor, Rev. Thomas Berger, officiating. The single ring ceremony was used. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johns of this city. The bride was attired in a beautiful olive green traveling suit.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Babcock left on a short post-nuptial trip to Pittsburgh and points east. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's parents for the time being. Mrs. Babcock is a graduate of Ellwood City high with the class of '34. Mr. Babcock is an employee of a freight liner on the Great Lakes.

Wallis Funeral Held On Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—Funeral services for William Wallis, whose death occurred in a Pittsburgh hospital, were held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his son, Lee Wallis, of Ellwood. The services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the Ellwood United Presbyterian church.

Mr. Wallis was for many years a resident of the Wurttemberg vicinity and had a wide circle of friends. During the services Mrs. Harvey Wright and Mrs. Ralph Little sang two lovely selections, "In the Garden" and "Abide With Me."

He is survived by a number of children who all reside in this vicinity.

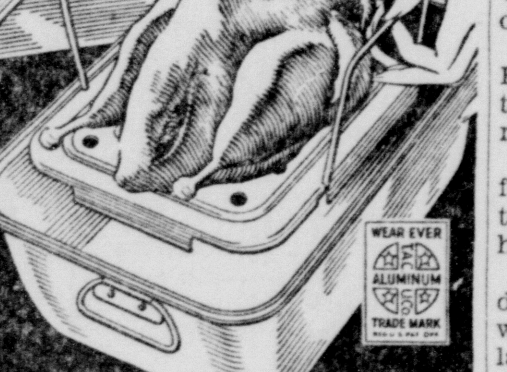

Interment was made in the Locust Grove cemetery with Arthur Hazen, S. P. Mortensen, James Rapp, Irvin Graham, Samuel Blair and James Kirker, as pallbearers.

Thanksgiving Party Is Held At Shelby

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—The employees of the local Shelby Tube plant and their families held their annual Thanksgiving party Saturday night at the Shelby Club house. The auditorium held a capacity throng.

Many turkeys were given away as door prizes and others were won by various ways. The feature of the evening was a stage entertainment of singing, dancing, and comedy. Besides being an enjoyable affair, it proved to be a highly successful one.

Ellwood To Meet Great Offensive Team Turkey Day

Ironton, O. Here Thanksgiving
Day To Be Alumni
Day And Home
Coming

Plan Reception In Honor Of
New Football Rivalry;
Game Is Final For Locals

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—Thanksgiving Day to Ellwood City high will mean three other things besides its traditional worth.

It will mark the first time that the Ellwood high team has had a game on this day in about ten years. It will be Alumni Day and Home Coming. It will be the final game for five first stringers in the line, three from the backfield, and a number of valuable men from the second and third teams. But most of all it will mark the founding of a new football rivalry with the coming of the famous Ironton, O. High football team to Ellwood City.

Ironton high is considered a top notch grid machine in Ohio and has claimed the championship of the state a number of times and is rated along with Massillon and Canton McKinley high. Until this season Ironton had been undefeated for two years. Their record this season shows seven victories, one tie, and one defeat. Their defeat was 14-12 and the tie 7-7. The latter was the first time that Ironton high was held under two touchdowns in two years. All other games they have trimmed their opponents in decisive fashion. From all indications Ironton high will be the greatest of the future team that Ellwood has met this season.

Ironton will travel the 300 miles to Ellwood City by bus. They will spend Wednesday night in Steubenville, O. and come here Thursday morning. They will return to Steubenville for the night. After the game a reception will be held for the gridgers of both teams, with the Alumni of Ellwood high taking an active part. All former grads will assemble for this game and occupy a reserved section. An Alumni dance will be held in the Elks hall on Thursday evening. All in all it promises to be a gala day.

Coaches Bill Mitchell and Dutch Croft have been pleased with the showing of their boys in the work-out the past few days and the recovery of several valuable men from injuries.

SWASTIKA CLASS
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—The regular monthly meeting of the Swastika class of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church which was to have been held tomorrow night at the home of Misses Cora May and Isabel Javens of the Ellwood-New Castle road has been postponed until Tuesday evening, December 1. The meeting to be held at the Javens home.

N. S. GRANGE
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—On Friday evening, members of the North Sewickley township grange will hold their regular semi-monthly meeting at their hall on the Ellwood-New Castle road. A literary program will follow the business meeting.

ELLWOOD CITY PERSONALS
Harry Hess, of this city, was a recent visitor at the J. W. Bronson home near Enon.

Dr. Ida C. Duncan and son, Clifford, of Fallston, were recent visitors at the W. J. Brandenberger home of North Sewickley township.

Mr. and Mrs. Filford Leslie and daughter, Clara, of Meadville, were week-end guests at the home of relatives in Ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Buchanan and son, Hubert, of Slippery Rock, were Sunday visitors at the home of relatives in the Fourth ward.

James E. Schlosser and family, of the Ellwood-New Brighton road, have moved to Monaca, where they will reside for several months.

Churches To Hold Special Services

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 23.—A number of the rural churches of this vicinity will hold special services on Wednesday evening in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

A combined Thanksgiving and preparatory services will be held at the Knox Presbyterian church beginning at 7:45. The message will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. Robert E. Bell. Communion will be observed at the church on the following Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service.

Members of the Wurttemberg Methodist and United Presbyterian churches will hold joint services at the former church at 8 o'clock. Rev. Henry Pollock, the new pastor of the Methodist church, will be the speaker.

In keeping with their annual custom, the North Sewickley Presbyterian, Providence Baptist and Concord Methodist churches will hold a combined service at the North Sewickley Township Grange hall on the Ellwood-New Brighton road. The services will begin at 7:30 and Rev. LeRoy Abbott, pastor of the Concord church, will bring the message. Each of the churches will contribute special music during the services.

Asked To Rule On Margiotti

Seek To Stop Attorney General
From Prosecuting 12 For
"Third Degree" Death

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The State Supreme court today was asked to declare Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti ineligible to prosecute the 12 men indicted in connection with the "third degree" murder of Frank C. Monaghan, 64-year-old Uniontown hotel operator.

Representing 10 of the 12 defendants, who include James A. Reilly, district attorney of Fayette county, John C. Duggan, an attorney, opened his oral argument before the high tribunal by declaring:

"The sole issue is the right of the attorney general to appoint himself to supersede the regularly elected prosecutor."

"The appellants were not questioning the attorney general's common law powers. Duggan asserted, in calling attention to the legal proceedings under which Margiotti came into Fayette county."

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The State Supreme court today was asked to declare Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti ineligible to prosecute the 12 men indicted in connection with the "third degree" murder of Frank C. Monaghan, 64-year-old Uniontown hotel operator.

Representing 10 of the 12 defendants, who include James A. Reilly, district attorney of Fayette county, John C. Duggan, an attorney, opened his oral argument before the high tribunal by declaring:

"The sole issue is the right of the attorney general to appoint himself to supersede the regularly elected prosecutor."

"The appellants were not questioning the attorney general's common law powers. Duggan asserted, in calling attention to the legal proceedings under which Margiotti came into Fayette county."

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT PATRICIA SMITH'S

To celebrate her eighth birthday which occurred on November 20, Patricia Smith was hostess to a group of 16 little playmates at her home on Euclid avenue.

Games of all sorts were played under the direction of the honoree's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Gormley Smith, and at 6 o'clock, the youngsters were called to the dining room for supper. The table was gay with orange and green decorations, like colors predominating in menu details. A tasty menu was served by Mrs. Smith, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. A. G. Gormley.

Ray Gray Battles Hightower Tonight

Five New Castle Boxers Appear On Amateur Boxing Card Here

RUBIN OPPOSES TONY OLARCHECK

Enthusiasts of boxing should have their appetite fully appeased tonight when 16 of the best known ring warriors of amateur ranks in this section clash in eight bouts at the arena garden in Neshannock avenue. Five of them, headed by Ray Gray, of the South Side hold residence here, another is a senior at W. & J. college and remaining 10 come from the New Kensington, Springdale-Kittanning district. Gray is docketed to oppose Jim Hightower in a three round set to at 160 pounds.

Gray has been training with Dotey Augustine at the Jefferson Athletic club and according to reports is below weight and in the pink of condition. His two bouts resulted in victories over Keith Goodballet, southpaw from East Liverpool and Frankie Kerrick, of Youngstown. Hightower has fought practically all the leading amateur middleweights in this section.

Another favorite on tonight's fight card is Mickey Rubin, the man of swing and shift. He has been docketed to meet Tony Olarcheck who fought a year ago on the benefit card at Pittsburgh which found Jack Dempsey as the third man in the ring. The local slugger is in good condition according to his trainer, Jimmie Dine.

Bob McClure W. & J. welterweight champion and one of the best boxers in college ranks, according to information received here, is matched to fight Jack Herron, a slugger, who has appeared in about a dozen bouts. Neither of these boys have fought in this city. There is more than ordinary interest attached to this scrap.

The three round battle between Joe Yotz and Kid Roberts should be one of the most sensational staged here. They are lightweight rivals and each year for places higher on the amateur ladder. The winner will be matched in a succeeding show some outstanding 135 pounder.

Frankie Moran, South Side, will take on Herman Armitage, Springdale at 126; Dotey Augustine, South Side, will oppose Chuck Clowes, Springdale at 135 and Frankie Moran, also of the South Side, will fight Herman Armitage, also of Springdale, at 155 Nick Retardo and Elmer Cortez, both Ellwood boys, will box at 120 pounds.

It has been almost a month since the last boxing was held and this, coupled to the numerous New Castle boxers and good boys from nearby towns, has apparently caught the fancy of the fans and it is expected the place will be filled when the first bell rings at 8:15 p. m.

Arena garden is located in Neshannock avenue, near North street, and is heated. It has a capacity of 1,000, with comfortable accommodations. Local people will be the officials of the bouts, sanctioned by the State Athletic commission and the Amateur Athletic union.

Colalucas Trim Frisco Team, 13-7

South Siders Overcome Early Lead To Win Exciting Tussle, Yesterday

Combining power and speed, the Colalucas of the South Side defeated Frisco, 13-7, Sunday afternoon at Centennial field before a large crowd.

The visitors crossed the goal line in the opening period when Francis fought his way over the last chalk-mark. Marshall made the extra point. With just a few minutes remaining before the close of the first period, the Colalucas started their goalward march from their own 20. The drive ended with "Boney" Jones scoring. The extra point try was blocked. Throughout the remainder of the first half and most of the second half, the two independent aggregations battled evenly.

Late in the third stanza, the Colalucas intercepted a Frisco pass and drove down the field for 30 yards, placing the oval on the 1-yard line as the quarter ended. "Hobby" Brown handled the situation nicely by working his way over for what proved to be the winning touchdown. Hornig annexed the 13th point for the locals. Francis of Frisco ran the kick-off to the Colalucas 20-yard stripe. Here the visitors took to the air lanes. The alert Colalucas checked the passing attack and held onto the pigskin until the end. Final score, Colalucas 13, Frisco 7. The gridders gave a splendid exhibition of football.

Coach "Fuzzy" Neyman, in a letter to a member of The News sports department, publicly challenged the Wabash Bears of Mahoningtown for the independent title of the city. The Colalucas are in favor of playing a charity game for the Red Cross or Community Chest. In all probabilities the two elevens will battle. Because of the keen rivalry that exists between the teams, one of the most exciting setios in the history of local independent football will result. All this week the Colalucas will sharpen their claws for the coming game. Practices are scheduled for Gaston Park at 4:30 every day, Neyman stated.

Shoot Called Off Until Wednesday

The New Castle Rifle club, leaders of the Penn-Ohio Rifle League, will meet at the Cathedral range on Wednesday night for a practice shoot instead of tonight, it was announced by Leo W. Hill, president.

The Legion of Honor is having a turkey shoot at the range tonight, which necessitated calling off the New Castle club shoot. There will be a meeting of the New Castle Rifle club members Wednesday night. The starting time is 7:30 o'clock. In the league the New Castles have won five and lost no matches to date.

DUQUESNE UPSETS MARQUETTE, 13 TO 0

Marquette University's hopes for the Rose Bowl assignment were rudely crushed at Pittsburgh Saturday as its Golden Avalanche was steam-rolled, 13 to 0, by the powerful Duquesne University eleven of Pittsburgh. Brumbaugh (arrow), Duquesne half, is shown plunging through Marquette's line for a gain in the first quarter.

Northwestern Is Toppled By Notre Dame 26-6

Irish Turn On Heat Against Northwestern Saturday, Fordham Ties Georgia

LOUISIANA STATE KEEPS UP RECORD

By LAWTON CARVER International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The national football championship no longer need to be a matter for speculation, because there isn't going to be any from the present outlook, and if the east gets into the Rose Bowl it will be as a customer in the stands, this adding up to a "Blue Monday" on a half dozen fronts, with some of last week's experts still listed as missing.

Notre Dame Wins Northwestern, which apparently had the national title, along with the Big Ten crown, securely clinched, let the former honor slip Saturday in that 26 to 6 defeat against Notre Dame, which was first to beat the Wildcats and by so doing established itself as the greatest comeback of the season. A week earlier the Ramblers routed Army, after being swamped by Pitt and nipped out by Navy.

While Northwestern's loss was a terrific shock to the mid-west, the suffering during the day was not confined to that sector. There was plenty to go around and the east got its share. That Fordham-Georgia 7-7 tie was outstanding.

Fordham Out When the Crackers, who had been whipped four times, pulled that one they virtually knocked Fordham right out of the Rose Bowl and Louisiana State or Alabama into it. Fordham previously had been tied by Pitt, but had hoped to go to the Rose Bowl. The Rams' chances seem to be gone now.

Pitt still has an outside chance for the nomination, but just an outside chance. Besides tying Fordham, the Panthers lost to Duquesne and play Carnegie Tech Thursday. Louisiana State and Alabama each has been tied once, but should win their remaining games from Tulane and Vanderbilt respectively.

While Alabama idled Saturday, Louisiana State did a bit of dashing about against Southwestern and, according to last reports, the score was 93 to 0.

Yale Tops Harvard For Marquette, the season and Rose Bowl hopes are over. The Milwaukee eleven's chances of getting the western invitation went overboard with that 13 to 0 defeat laded out by Duquesne.

One of the day's biggest shocks was engineered by Iowa over Temple in that 25 to 0 upset. Yale was held closer than expected in that 14 to 13 win over Harvard, but, at that, won the "Big Three" title along with the ball game.

A final meeting of all managers of the New Castle Church League will be held at the "Y" on Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The league will start on November 30, it was announced.

Ineligibility is causing discomfort to many of the proposed teams. The Class A league will probably start the season with the following lineup: First Baptists, Tifereth Israel, St. Paul, First Presbyterians, Third U. P.

The meeting on Tuesday will consist of announcing the men eligible for the league, also announcement of the final practice sessions. The ministers of the various churches will give the final okay on the eligible player lists.

Big Ten Athletics Declared "Clean"

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Appraised that the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching is to make a sweeping investigation of college football professionalism and subsidization, Coach Francis Schmidt, of Ohio State declared today no such problem exists at Ohio State nor in any big ten colleges.

"Ohio State University and all the big ten colleges," Schmidt said, "are governed by rigid eligibility set up by Major John L. Griffiths, conference commissioner.

No Big Problems "No concessions are given football players. They must maintain a high scholastic rating and carry 45 hours each year, the same as a non-athletic student. It takes a good student to play on Ohio's team for if he fails to pass one subject he is automatically ineligible for competition.

"There is no professional problem here. Of course many work their way through school, getting $30 or $40 a month for work as janitor, elevator operator or warehouse attendant, but they earn it. Work is tough and the pay is slim enough for several hours of work daily.

"I suppose there are some colleges where the teams make the colleges and the investigation might be fitting there, but in Ohio state, the college would still go on without a football team."

Presidents George W. Rightmire was unavailable for comment.

Franklin Alumni Set For Battle Against Varsity

Franklin High Grads Plan To Give Varsity Team Stiff Engagement

The fur will fly in dear old Ben Franklin Junior high gymnasium on Tuesday afternoon when the Franklin High Alumni team under Coach Eddie Strausbaugh, will tackle the Franklin varsity five under Coach "Bill" Wallace.

The grads will have a strong team on the court including Strausbaugh, Nocera, Maciarelo, Ross, Santangelo and others and expect to give the varsity boys a little lesson in the art of how basketball should be played.

The Alumni team has not had any rehearsal, as Coach Strausbaugh said, "we don't need any practice to beat the Franklin varsity team." It promises to be quite the battle.

Coach Wallace will have his strongest lineup on the court. The Franklin team played a practice game at New Wilmington last week, and looked impressive even though the score went against them.

It has been several years since a college boy appeared in a boxing bout here. The first was Pal Kansas of Westminster who boxed at the bowl and later Billy Soose who now is at Penn State boxed here. Tonight Bob McClure of W. & J. makes his local debut.

Midland High Here Thursday

Final Game Of Year Will Be Class AA Battle At Taggart Stadium

New Castle high "Red Hurricane" football team went into the final week of practice today. After being idle most of last week and giving the cripples a chance to rest up, Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh called the squad out for the first strenuous workout since the Sharon game.

Midland high with its Class AA team, will be the opponents here on Thursday afternoon, which by the way, happens to be Thanksgiving Day. The New Castle boys need a victory very badly Thursday to stay in the race for the Class AA crown.

First Appearance It will be the final game for many of the "Red Hurricane" players, including Bud Mumford and Paulie Small. Midland high will come here to shoot the works against the Castles.

It will mark the first time that Midland high has ever engaged the New Castle high team in a grid battle. The boys are more than anxious to make a good showing and it will probably be a fine contest.

The locals are determined to end the season with a victory, as the last two starts have not been any too good for the local record, a loss at Martins Ferry and a tie at Sharon.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today announced that the game Thanksgiving Day would start at 2:15 p. m.

Sixteen Titans To Get Letters

Football Players To Be Given Awards For Work During Season

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 23.—Sixteen members of the 1936 Westminster College football squad will receive varsity letters this year, according to Coach George Roark, Titan all-sports mentor.

Seven letter-winners have played their last game for the Blue and White: Bailey, Sharon, halfback; Laraway, Erie, fullback; Mintz, Butler, halfback; Krulatz, Butler, guard; Harder, Allison Park, tackle; Butler, New Castle, guard; Brown, New Jersey, back. Only one junior award was made to John Susko, Struthers, O., tackle.

First-year awards consisting of the traditional blue sweater and white block "W" were given to eight veteran members of the squad: Bretholme, Carnegie, tackle; Shoup, Bessemer, halfback; M. Pawk, Butler, end; Grubb, Youngstown, end, all sophomores.

Four freshmen won letters this year: Holton, Pittsburgh, center; Laposki, New Brighton, quarterback; Miller, New Brighton, end; Youkers, Butler, guard; James Marshall, New Castle, student-manager, also received an award.

Bessemer High Gridders Will Dine Tuesday

Bessemer high school football team will have its annual banquet at the Bessemer high school on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. It was announced by Head Coach J. K. Fredericks. Bessemer for the second straight year won the county championship by taking over both Union and Shenango.

It doesn't matter, of course, but one wonders what sacred meal ticket will now be followed by Gerald K. Smith.

Duquesne Tops Marquette 13-0, Hold Spotlight

Penn State Ends Season With 14 To 0 Win Over Bucknell Eleven

TEMPLE FOLDS UP BEFORE IOWA

By PAUL R. ALLERUP International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Pennsylvania this week bids adieu to college football for another year. Three days hence, on Thanksgiving Day, eleven state teams ring down the curtain on what has been, from anybody's standpoint, one of the best seasons Pennsylvania's gridiron fans have known in years.

But today, before turning on the weeps for the passing of so good and true a friend, the Pennsylvania grid addict can—and does—still revel in football talk. Being a tickle creature whose enthusiasm ebbs and rises with the developments of each succeeding week-end, he dwells most insistently today on that which he best remembers.

Dukes Win

And so this Monday most of his raving is about "little" Duquesne's 13-0 victory over Marquette's undefeated, untied Golden Avalanche from Milwaukee. He hits high c's of oratory in retelling how the Dukes stymied the peer of passers, Ray "Buzz" Buvird, Marquette's candidate for All-American honors, and stopped Art and Al Guepe, husky twins in football pants, in their tracks. Gloving, he recounts the exploits of Mike Basrak, Duquesne's center and captain, another All-American possibility, against the Avalanche, and tells how Boyd Brumbaugh, Duke junior halfback, gave as good as he took and passed, ran and kicked the daylights out of the touted visitors.

He returns again and again to the whys and wherefores of Penn State's 14-0 triumph over Bucknell, pointing out that Saturday's win amply repaid the Nittany Lions for last year's defeat by the Bisons.

Iowa Tops Temple

He defends, somewhat pridefully, Pop Warner's Temple Owls, snatched by the dismal score of 25-0 by Iowa, and asserts, loyally, that the Owls were not as bad as the score might indicate. He recalls, for example, that long runs, of the 72 and 75-yard variety, accounted for at least a couple of the Hawkeye touchdowns, and looks to the statistics for a better grading of the teams' relative worth.

Iowa, he remarks, rolled up only 11 first downs to Temple's nine, while the home team connected with 10 out of 17 passes to outshine the Hawkeyes in the air.

Warming to his subject, the die-hard gives Lock Haven a figurative pat-on-the-back for taking up-ben Shippensburg into camp, 7-0, to cop the Pennsylvania state teachers' college championship, and rants anew when he comes to Geneva's last minute, fourth period touchdown, which sank Washington and Jefferson, 3-3.

To End Thursday

Just by way of emphasis, the megalomaniacal Lehigh 18-0 edge over Lafayette, the fighting 13-13 draw between Muhlenberg and Dickinson; Drexel's 32-0 advantage over Swarthmore; West Chester's surprise 12-7 win over Waynesburg; Thiel's well-earned but slim 8-7 edge over Grove City; Susquehanna's 6-0 upset of P. M. C. and Kutztown's 19-7 lapping of Millersville.

Aye, the 1936 season may be rolling right out from under him, but for another few days, at least, the football fan can tout his whistle. Come Thanksgiving, Pennsylvania's matchless crew takes on Cornell; Pitt and Carnegie Tech battle it out in traditional Turkey Day fashion; Temple and Bucknell lock horns, and several of the small schools settle scores of long standing elsewhere throughout the state.

John Scott Harrison, who was born in 1804 at Vincennes, Ind., was the son of William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States, and father of Benjamin Harrison, the twenty-third president.

Nothing like pearls to end a quarrel. The oyster makes the things to heal a sore place.

Mintz Completes Long Career On Football Field

Plays Four Years At Butler High And Four Years At Westminster

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 23.—David Mintz, Butler, is one of the eight seniors playing their last year of football for Westminster College. Mintz has played eight seasons of varsity football, four years at Butler high and four years at Westminster.

When he came to the Titan institution Mintz was one of the best running backs in the district, and was one of the two freshmen receiving letters during the 1933 campaign under Coach John D. Lawther.

During his sophomore and junior years Mintz played regular fullback under the tutelage of Bill and Tom Gilbane, former Brown University stars, although he was suffering from injured shoulders and badly twisted knees. This season under Coach George Roark, Mintz started the opening games of the year, but finished the season as an emergency back because of injuries.

Mintz has played on the varsity basketball squad for four years. In eight years of varsity competition in football and basketball, he has won three basketball letters in high school, where he captained the floor squad in his senior year, and three high school letters and a co-captaincy in football. This year he will receive his fourth Titan letter.

He has been assistant instructor in physical education at the New Wilmington school for the past two years, and supervises intramural sports. Mintz is majoring in Engineering and expects to coach after graduation from Westminster.

Massillon Tigers Trample Canton

Bobby Glass And Mike Bylene Score Touchdowns In Great 21 To 0 Win

New Castle football fans were interested in the Masson-Canton grid battle this year for the fact that the Tigers came here earlier in the year and upset the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" 13 to 0. Saturday the Massillon team ended an undefeated and untied season by taking the mighty Canton Bulldogs into camp 21 to 0, with Bobby Glass the crack fullback, the thorn in the side of the Bulldogs with a pair of touchdowns. Mike Bylene scored the third mark.

Massillon scored 443 points this year against 14 for the opposition, a very creditable record to say the least. Incidentally New Castle held the Massillons to the lowest score of the year.

Denny Shute Tops Thomson For PGA Title

Shute Plays Careful Steady
Game As Thomson Bangs
Out Screaming Drives

SHUTE DEADLY WITH HIS IRONS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports
Editor

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 23.—Somebody said here before the semi-finals a few nights ago that, if you took away the windbreaker and gave him a cut away and carnation, Denny Shute would have the look of a small town undertaker, stepped in the appropriate melancholy of his trade.

As to that, I suspect that, under this forbidding exterior, there beats the golden heart of a child and all I know is that he didn't merely beat Jimmy Thomson out of the professional golfers' association championship by 3 and 2 in the final yesterday—he buried the man under a bower of fresh-cut divots, spading him down with a No. 6 iron.

Screaming Drives
If ever a championship was won from the fairways and not from the tees, this was it. Thomson, master hitter of all the golfers in the world, averaged more than 300 yards to be seldom less than 50 yards in front from the tees; yet he won only six of the thirty-four holes played.

His extra distance all too often was a deluded advantage, a fact that became apparent at the thirty-first hole in the afternoon when it seemed as though he must beat Shute and go one down, making it a match instead of a demonstration. But Thomson's very distance defeated him here, for he was forced to play his pitch with an No. 8 iron and even then went over the green.

Shute Takes Lead
The 8-iron isn't the ideal fairway club; the 7-iron was too long for the shot. In other words, Thomson couldn't make the shot because he didn't have a club in his bag with which to play it. It is perhaps the most fitting commentary on this match between swashbuckling power and icy calm that Thomson went 1 down by losing the first hole with a bungled putt and never was "up" at any one time, morning or afternoon.

Shute came up to the press room afterwards—by request—and said the two best shots of the day were Thomson's putt around a symple to half the thirtieth and Thomson's out from a trap at the thirty-third, followed by a tough 4-footer for a half. But if the new champion will pardon my protruding lip, the feature of the day was the fact that he, Shute, always hit the best approach from the worst position.

Makes Great Shot
I might add that the best single shot of the day was practically Shute's last, a 230-yard spoon shot to end the match with an eagle 3 on the thirty-fourth. It was on the flag from the moment of impact, stopping 5 feet away. And down-right integrity forces me to say that Thomson would have played it with more distance and less shot.

It was the kind of shot that a man like Shute—admittedly "short" with everything except an approach putt—plays when the pressure is on. He almost didn't qualify in the very championship he won here yesterday for the first time. In fact, he needed par from the twelfth hole in to finish with a match-play field and par is exactly what he got.

Vaughan Pleads Guilty In Court At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Robert B. Vaughan today pleaded guilty in federal court to nine counts of using the mails to defraud and failing to register stocks with the U. S. securities commission.

He pleaded no defense to two other counts of manipulation of the market and conspiracy to violate the securities act on which he was indicted by a federal grand jury at Erie.

Three co-defendants, Melvin S. Patterson, W. Homer Porter and E. M. Garwood, pleaded not guilty and were immediately placed on trial. All were indicted in connection with the promotion and sale of gold and silver mining stocks.

Haynes-Simms Meet Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Fresh from two knockout wins, Levey Haynes, colored heavyweight slugger from Philadelphia, will attempt to measure his third victim here tonight when he meets Eddie Simms, of Cleveland, in a ten rounder.

Local fans predict a close bout with lots of action. Three classy preliminary bouts will complete the card.

Plays Final Game For Pitt

Arnold Greene

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Two weeks ago the last game of the Pitt season with Tech at the Stadium was just another football game to Arnold Greene—his last to be sure, but nothing to get excited about, for all intents he would see action only as a third stringer. Today the kid from Huntingdon looms as the starting fullback.

As a quarterback Green has had but fair success for the past three seasons. In his one game as fullback—against powerful Nebraska he rushed into the line, counting two touchdowns and blocking very well.

Green weighs 215 pounds, he is a good punter; a good passer and pass receiver, appears to be better blocker at full than he was at quarterback, and is good on defense. His ball carrying is good.

He is one of a half dozen Pitt stars who bow out of the picture against Carnegie Tech on Thanksgiving.

Sports Review Just At Glance

(International News Service)

Denny Shute won 19th annual P. G. A. championship at Pinehurst, N. C. by a 3 and 2 victory over Jimmy Thomson in final round of tourney. Santa Clara defeated Loyola 13 to 6, at Los Angeles to remain country's major undefeated and untied team.

National football league results: Green Bay Packers 26, New York Giants 14; Boston Redskins 30, Brooklyn Dodgers 6; Detroit Lions 14, Chicago Cardinals 7; Chicago Bears 28, Philadelphia Eagles 7. American football league results: New York Yankees 15, Cleveland Rams 7.

National hockey results: New York Americans 3, Montreal Maroons 2; Detroit Red Wings 4, Toronto Maple Leafs 2; Boston Bruins 2, Chicago Blackhawks 1.

Postpone Hearing
On Trial Appeal
Of John Becker

(International News Service)
BROOKVILLE, Pa., Nov. 23.—At the request of defense attorney John Conrad, Judge Jesse C. Long postponed arguments on the plea for a new trial for John Becker, doomed to the electric chair by a jury in the brutal "tower killing" of Miss Katherine Bracken, 42, until November 30.

The arguments were scheduled for today but Conrad asked for more time to prepare his brief.

Careless Hunters Severely Scored

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Carelessness and greediness on the part of the majority of hunters were blamed today for the annual "slaughter and wounding of human beings" in the hunting field by John M. Phillips, former president of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

He advocated legislation which would make it a misdemeanor, punishable for fine, for any hunter who tramped the woods with the safety on his gun off.

"The majority of hunting accidents occur because hunters who are not sportsmen, greedy to get a shot before their companions, carry their guns off safety," Phillips charged.

Bear Season
Starts Today

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—If you're convinced there's a bar in them that mousetraps you may go after them legally today.

Pennsylvania's bear season, reduced to four days, extends until Thanksgiving night. The first shots fired this morning marked the beginning of the state's big game season, as deer are not legal prey until December 1.

One bear to a single hunter or party for the season is the bag limit fixed by the state game commission.

STOCKS

Stock Market Is Unsettled

Stocks Drop Off Few Points
At Opening And Then
Recovery Sets In

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The stock market dropped as much as two points today on nervousness over the growing tension abroad, then recovered slightly as trading volume dwindled.

All but a few groups were carried downward with steels, coppers, rails, motors and chemicals sustaining the widest losses. Aviation was independently strong, while tractions and liquors resisted liquidation to some extent.

Both U. S. Steel and Bethlehem lost more than a point before meeting support, which pared declines slightly. Other steels showed fractional losses.

Chrysler slumped two points and General Motors half as much. Little recovery was effected later. Auburn, however, moved up more than a point.

Anacoda lost more than two points and International Nickel more than a point in coppers. Weak spots in oils included Phillips Petroleum, off more than a point, and Texas Corp., slightly less.

Allied Chemical slipped three points. DuPont eased close to two and Union Carbide sustained a decline almost as large.

Independent strength in aviation was encouraged by a jump of a point in Boeing Airplane into new high ground. Douglas also was in demand. Hiram Walker in liquors was higher.

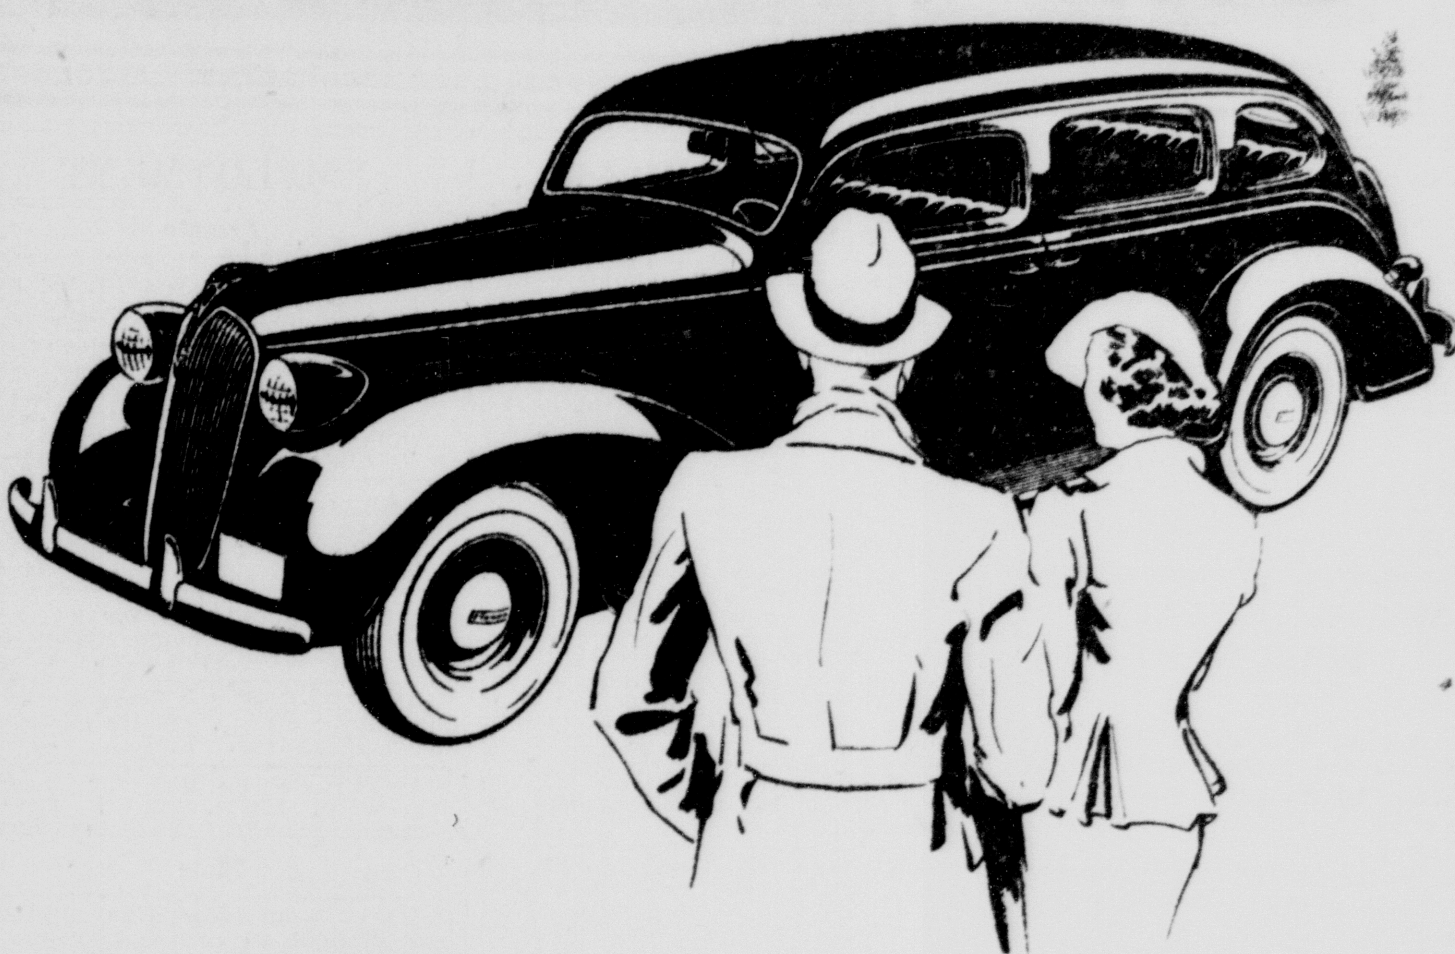

Bonds were mixed in tone. Grains gained moderately, but cotton eased.

Mrs. E. N. Jones Critically Ill

Wife Of State W. P. A. Administrator Dangerously Ill Of Tetanus

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Penelope Redd Jones, wife of State WPA Administrator Edward N. Jones, lies dangerously ill of tetanus at Geisinger Memorial hospital, Danville, Pa. It was disclosed here today.

Jones, who recently took a two months' vacation from her WPA duties, was at her wife's bedside as she hovered between life and death. Jones said his wife stumbled and fell on a sharp hedge at their home in Camp Hill, near Harrisburg, about two weeks ago. Nothing was thought of the incident at the time until an infection developed. At the Geisinger hospital last week, a splinter lodged under her knee cap was removed. Since that time she has hovered near death.

Jones said today that if Mrs. Jones can hold out for another 48 hours she has an excellent chance for recovery.

Woman Kidnaped On Street And Taken For Ride

McKeesport Woman Mistaken For Someone Else
Is Kidnaped, But Released

WOMAN AND MAN OBJECT OF HUNT

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—A pair of careless kidnapers, described by their victim, a 36-year-old mother released after six hectic hours in the snatchers' automobile, as "a hefty blond woman of about 50 and a man who looked like George Raft of the movies," were the object of a wide police search today.

Herwig, accosted her as she walked to church yesterday morning, and asked directions. When she pointed out their route, the woman insisted she get in the car, a red-wheeled, tan, dusty sedan, and ride with them for a few streets, Mrs. Herwig told police.

Knocked Unconscious
She got in the car, Mrs. Herwig told authorities, but when she wanted to get out the man said: "No, you stay where you are; we're going to fix you for what you did to Helen."

When she fought to get out of the car and threatened to scream, Mrs. Herwig told detectives, the blond woman struck her on the jaw and she became unconscious.

After six hours of driving, the pair finally released Mrs. Herwig, mother of a 10-year-old son, in McKeesport, with a warning that if she mentioned the incident to police, they'd "come back" for her.

At her home today, Mrs. Herwig said the kidnapers apparently had mistaken her for someone else and discovered their mistake when they went through her pocketbook. Nothing was stolen.

It is generally supposed that Damascus, Syria, is the oldest city in the world. Although positive evidence is lacking, there is reason to believe that this spot has been occupied as a city longer than any other on earth.

First Presbyterian Thanksgiving Service

Ladies Missionary Society Conducts Memorial Service,
Pittsburgh Woman
Speaker

The Ladies Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church held their annual Thanksgiving Praise service, Sunday evening in the church. Members of the Hershey auxiliary had charge of the program with Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine supervising.

Following a beautiful anthem by the choir the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. H. S. Magill. The evening prayer was given by Miss Olive Webb.

The feature of the evening was a most impressive memorial service in charge of Mrs. J. G. Nothdurft and Mrs. A. B. Street representing the Helena society and the Daughters of Lydia. Tributes were paid to the memory of the following: Mrs. P. C. Gillespie, Mrs. T. J. Mays, Mrs. C. L. McWilliams, Mrs. George Wareham, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. R. S. Maxwell and Miss Irene Maple. A prayer of dedication was offered by Mrs. A. B. Foster of the A. B. D. class.

Mrs. Paul Silzeus of Pittsburgh, secretary of missionary education, delivered the main address of the evening, and as she is a very convincing speaker the talk was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Two Railroad Men Are Killed

Accident Occurs On Track
Along Ohio River At Aliquippa

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Nov. 23.—Two members of a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad switching engine crew were killed Sunday and a third escaped injuries by jumping when the newly-made fill of a sidetrack near South Heights gave way under the weight of the engine and tender which rolled 30 feet down an embankment and overturned.

The dead are Charles B. Foster, 33, of 185 Clay street, Rochester, brakeman, and Angelo Colangelo, 40, of 2403 Seventh avenue, Beaver Falls, fireman.

John Meskell, 53, engineer, of 2709 Fifth avenue, Beaver Falls, was bruised and stunned.

The engine and tender were being run down the newly-made track to the Rogers Sand Company docks along the Ohio river when the accident occurred. Foster and Colangelo were caught in the cab of the engine and buried under an avalanche of loose cinders and earth.

If your brown sugar is lumpy when you want to use it to make cookies or cake, put the correct amount of shortening in the mixing bowl to soften and add the sugar. The grease in the shortening will soften the sugar lumps so you can cream them easily.
